'Ethnic purity' remark downgraded as issue

Carter show visits Romulus

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

The road show that is a Presidential Primary Campaign came to Romulus briefly Friday when Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter proved that "ethnic purity" does not offend Detroit's black leaders and that Georgia's "right to work" laws don't offend the leaders of the biggest unions in Michigan.

The Carter bandwagon came to the Host International Hotel in Metro Airport to hear United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock bestow Carter's candidacy with the "blessings" of the leaders of some 250,000 auto workers in Michigan.

"If a political genius had offered to produce a candidate who could carry the working class as well as the crucial black, moderate and liberal vote in the North, and at the same time defeat the strident segregationists of the South, he would have been called a dreamer," Woodcock said as a prelude to his endorsement.

"And yet, he continued, 'that is what Jimmy Carter has done.'"

Carter arrived in a boardroom of the hotel at 3:40 p.m. to meet members of the press and to introduce to them Coleman Young, the black mayor of the City of Detroit as evidence that Carter's concern for the "ethnic purity" of neighborhoods was not construed as a slap at the black voters of America and an attack on what the Constitution says is their right to live anywhere in the United States where they can afford a home.

In answer to a question from a radio reporter on the "ethnic purity" statement, which Carter's opponents in the primary campaign trail have failed to make into the issue which could harm the Georgia juggernaut, Carter said: "Coleman Young was one of the first supporters I called to explain my position on neighborhood integration after I learned that the 'ethnic purity' remark I innocently gave in response to a question was obnoxious to some persons."

In addition to having Young at his side during the bestowal of the UAW endorsement, Carter benefitted from Woodcock's three references to the late President John F. Kennedy as "the only other person I have met who impressed me as much as Jimmy Carter."

Woodcock admitted he had an instant infatuation with the Georgia frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination when the two first met in February, but that he was tied by his union's by-laws and protocol from coming out at that time in favor of Carter.

Woodcock called for Americans, particularly those voting in next week's Michigan primary, to ignore the lessons most learned at a young age that "certain citizens could not be considered as contenders for the presidency."

In his first reference to the late President, Woodcock said that Kennedy was the first to overcome the traditional "taboo" by being elected to the nation's highest office "despite" being a Catholic and statements that Kennedy's entry into the nation's most powerful post would give the Catholic Pope a mouthpiece in world affairs.

Woodcock asked that the history of 1960 be repeated in behalf of the Carter campaign to elect a Southerner who "could be no better symbol of reconciliation...who listens to the people instead of the traditional politicians."

Woodcock said that he carefully examined Carter's stand on such issues as unemployment, health care, tax reform, welfare reform, education and foreign affairs to conclude that Carter "is the one candidate who can make government work for the people."

Democratic hopeful details plan for jobs

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Jimmy Carter came to the heart of unemployment in the United States — Michigan — to outline his campaign for bringing jobs back to the people of the nation.

In a press conference designed to unveil the blessings of Carter's candidacy by the United Automobile Workers (UAW), Carter was asked to detail the plan which had convinced UAW President Leonard Woodcock that the Democratic contender for his party's nomination could lower unemployment from the present nine-percent rate and cut inflation back from the 12-percent rate experienced in 1975.

Carter said his job plan centered around "careful reordering of spending priorities" to ensure that money spent by the government is money spent for jobs.

"You don't get many jobs when you spend $1 million on a nuclear warhead," Carter told a press gathering at the Metropolitan Airport Hotel. "But when you spend that same money on day care centers, it's almost totally spent on jobs.

"I intend to put jobs first in my list of priorities," said the Democratic front runner. "We will never have a balanced budget and I intend to send federal money into the private sector where it will benefit people by providing jobs."

"I want to reorder the priorities of the Nixon-Ford administration, which places an emphasis on fighting inflation by running up unemployment and by maintaining high interest rates, and to provide federal money where it serves best."

Carter said his attack on unemployment would not only include spending federal money at home but also through a "vigorous campaign" to win respect for American products both at home and overseas.

"It's unconscionable for 22-percent of the automobiles we drive in the United States to be manufactured overseas and to have only one million housing starts a year when there is a need for two million homes yearly in this country," Carter said. "Federal policies have for too long prohibited industry to compete effectively at home."

"I realize I have to be an aggressive salesman for product sales overseas to ensure jobs at home."

"But, if the other efforts move too slowly, I will provide federal jobs for people at home in an effort to change statistics which see fully 20 percent of our young unemployed and between 25 and 45 percent of the young black unemployed."

Autopsy shows man died of gun wounds

The Taylor man who was admitted to Wayne County General Hospital as "dead on arrival" following a collision between an ambulance and automobile in Romulus May 2 died of gunshot wounds and not as a result of the accident.

The Wayne County Medical Examiner has informed investigators of the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol that injuries to the head of 46-year-old Jerry Todd, of Taylor, came after the man had apparently died of self-inflicted gunshot wounds to the chest.

A spokesperson for the Wayne County Medical Examiner's office said Todd had suffered extensive bleeding prior to the time an ambulance, which was transporting him to Wayne County Hospital, collided with a car driven by a 16-year-old Romulus youth.

The driver of the car, Robert Jesko, of 8551 Hudson St., Romulus, is in intensive care at the hospital where he remains in critical condition after his car was struck as it proceeded on Beverly across Middle Belt Road with a green traffic signal.

A 15-year-old passenger in his car, Brenda Kuhn, of 6325 Cordell St., Romulus, has been taken off of the critical list and is reported in fair condition.

Jesko's car was struck broadside by an ambulance driven by Dennis

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY

Belleville to ask residents if they want to join PCHA

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Belleville will take advantage of the Michigan presidential primary election Tuesday to ask a question of its voters.

A special proposition has been placed on the ballot asking whether the citizens of this community of 3,000 wish to cast their health care lot with the People's Community Hospital Authority (PCHA).

Voters in the city have been asked the question twice before and on both occasions went against joining the authority and being obligated to pay the four-tenths of a mill levy the 26 PCHA communities pay to help cover the costs of bonds for expansion of the 5-hospital PCHA health care system.

However both rejections came during a time when Belleville had its own hospital, the Belvil Community Hospital.

Since 1975, residents have been without their own health care facility when the 80-bed hospital was forced to close its doors due to economic collapse and failure to obtain bids to purchase bonds for a proposed 120-bed facility.

Belleville residents who utilize the PCHA facilities must pay a 10-percent surcharge on their regular health care bills.

The four-tenths of a mill levy will cost the average taxpayer 40 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation on his home, or some $4 per year on a home with a market value of $20,000.

No campaign has been mounted for or against membership in the authority, with the community's leaders allowing the people the opportunity to voice their opinion on the authority.

In Belleville and Romulus as well as all other communities in Wayne County, Tuesday's ballot will include a request from Wayne County for a half-mill tax increase to finance the cost of a new Wayne County Jail building to be constructed in downtown Detroit.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has approved the idea of constructing a new jail, but does not have funds in the county budget to cover the cost of the facility.

But the major business at hand for the voters will be casting ballots for presidential candidates in either the Democratic or Republican Party and, in the case of Republicans, casting ballots for precinct workers who will attend the Wayne County Republican nominating convention.

County Republicans will then select delegates to the state convention who, in turn, will select delegates for the national Republican nominating conventions.

Democratic candidates will be selected at special party caucuses.

Listed as candidates on the Republican ballot are incumbent President Gerald Ford and challenger Ronald Reagan.

On the Democratic side of the ballot are Jimmy Carter, Fred R. Harris, Henry M. Jackson, Ellen McCormack, R. Sargent Shriver, Morris K. Udall, and George C. Wallace.

Albion mayor to visit

Romulus officials will "share notes" on community operations with officials of the City of Albion during the annual "Mayor's Exchange Day" observance as part of Michigan Week.

Mayor James C. Stewart of Romulus will be changing places with Mayor Charles W. Jones, of Albion, Monday.

Attending ceremonies in Romulus with Mayor Jones will be his wife, Diane; Councilman and Mrs. Joseph Benavidez, clerk-treasurer and Mrs. Millard Coleman and Planning Director Gerald Peeler and his wife.

Going to Albion with Stewart and his wife, Irene, are Treasurer and Mrs. John Lewkowicz and Councilmembers Jerry Canejo, Fred Junior Block, Bob Martin, Jimmie Raspberry and Bill Oakley and their wives.

Van Buren homestead nets centennial farm distinction

A Van Buren Township homestead has been deemed a "Centennial Farm" by the Michigan Department of State.

The farm located at 9015 Haggerty Road, Van Buren Township, owned by Robert and Floretta Robson, has been given the centennial designation after proof was obtained by the Division of Michigan History of the state that the land has been in the Robson family for 102 years.

The Robson farm joins more than 3,000 other Michigan farms which have been designated as centennial farms since the program was first instituted in 1948.

To qualify, a farm must be of 10 or more acres in size and have an estimated farm product sales of more than $50 or be less than 10 acres with sales of more than $250 yearly.

A centennial farm includes only the land which is farmed, and not the buildings, which can be renovated or built new.

To apply for a centennial farm designation, a resident should write the Centennial Farm Program, Division of Michigan History, Michigan Department of State, Lansing 48918.

Patroller joins in trip

America's Bicentennial celebration is taking on special meaning for a safety patroller from Romulus who is traveling to Washington, D.C., as a guest of Automobile Club of Michigan.

Alan Kreyger, 11, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Kreyger of 16419 Vining Road, who attends Merriman Elementary School in Romulus, is among 90 patrollers taking part in the all-expense-paid trip. The youngster was chosen by Auto Club from among 55,000 safety patrollers in 2,400 schools as Michigan's best for the 1975-76 school year.

The Auto Club has sponsored trips for the state's top patrollers each year since 1937. This year's trip marks a return to Washington after a 7-year absence during which students journeyed to the annual Canadian National Safety Patrol Rally in Ottawa.

The first leg of this year's tour takes students by chartered bus to Gettysburg, Pa., to view the famous Civil War battlefield, then to Washington.

It all begins next Wednesday when the 11- to 13-year-old youngsters from outside the Detroit Metropolitan area arrive at Dearborn and visit historic Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum.

Outstate patrollers will stay overnight at the Dearborn Inn and join Detroit-area youths at Auto Club's Dearborn Administrative Offices for the next day's trip East.

After arriving in Gettysburg at 6 p.m. for an overnight stay, the group will see the National Civil War Wax Museum.

After breakfast on Friday, patrollers will visit other Gettysburg sites including the Cyclorama, a circular theater showing a panorama of photos, paintings and recordings depicting Pickett's Charge, climax to the 3-day Battle of Gettysburg and high-water mark for the Confederate advance on the North.

On Saturday morning the patrollers will travel by bus to Washington, where they tour John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Arlington National Cemetery and other memorials and buildings in the nation's capital.

2 judges urge approval of county's jail millage

The two heads of Wayne County's criminal courts have asked for a "yes" vote from Wayne County taxpayers on a half-mill tax increase request to be put before them to finance a new Wayne County Jail.

Presiding Judge James N. Canham of the Wayne County Circuit Court and Chief Judge Donald S. Leonard of the Recorder's Court, jointly have said the tax increase is "the best method to solve the urgent problem of inadequate jail space."

Under the judicial set-up in Wayne County, the Circuit Court handles criminal cases in out-county communities and the Recorder's Court handles the same cases for the City of Detroit.

In issuing his endorsement, Canham said: "Due to the shortage of jail cells, police are babysitting prisoners in local lockups in

'It is not the courts who are too lenient... Our hands are tied by lack of sufficient jail cells.'

— Judge Leonard

suburban communities instead of doing what they should be doing — enforcing the law."

Judge Leonard added: "Because of the shortage of jail space, our court has been forced to release on personal or low bonds people who ordinarily would not be eligible for bond.

"It is not the courts who are too lenient in this situation. Our hands are tied by lack of sufficient jail cells."

Both judges indicated that the millage route for financing a new jail would be the best for taxpayers of Wayne County, since it would provide money more quickly and would enable the county to finance a jail without the interest costs associated with bonding.

A new jail has been required by the county by a panel of Circuit Court Judges who found three years ago that conditions of overcrowding in the Wayne County Jail in downtown Detroit consisted of "cruel and unusual" punishment for prisoners who were not yet convicted of any crime, but are awaiting trial on charges."

First venture a success

The Romulus Lions Club has issued a public "thanks" to the citizens of the community for their support of the recent "White Cane Week" fund raising drive.

Robert Pressler issued the "thank you for your whole hearted support" after the Lions raised substantial funds for the sight handicapped in their first fund raising venture.

According to Pressler, the funds will be used for citizens of Romulus and other Lion-supported functions, such as the Rochester Leader Dog School.

The Romulus club engaged in the fund raiser just a month after receiving its charter.

Wrong code confuses computers Residents 'zap' zip

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff
The movement of postal carrier scheduling from the Romulus Post Office to the Taylor Post office apparently has confused some Romulus residents. Residents erroneously have been changing the return address for their letters from the traditional Romulus designation with the zip code of 48174 to the designation for the City of Taylor and its zip code.

However, postal officials from the Romulus Post Office are advising them that the change is unnecessary and, in fact, is playing havoc with the new carrier scheduling system.

Although some of the functions of the Romulus Post office have been consolidated into the larger Taylor facility on Goddard Road, the need for the Romulus mailing address and the Romulus Post office have not been diminished.

Postal officials still are on hand to take packages and distribute stamps at the Romulus Post Office in downtown Romulus. All that has changed is the place where the postal carriers hang their "civilian" clothes on their regular letter-delivering days.

Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart and Congressman William D. Ford have been successful in keeping the "Romulus" identity alive in the U.S. Postal system despite that change.

And Romulus postal officials pointed out that residents should not be concerned about the change in locations from where letters are delivered, since it hasn't changed the kind of service citizens can expect.

And they are urging citizens to continue to be proud of their "Romulus" mailing address and zip code of 48174 to insure that they receive their mail as quickly as possible.

Changing mailing addresses to a Taylor designation and a Taylor zip code will only confuse the expensive computers brought into the Postal Service when it went "semi-public" to improve service.

And no one wants to confuse a computer.

'My Fair Lady' at BHS hits final weekend

Performances of "My Fair Lady" by Belleville High School students are scheduled for 8 p.m., tomorrow through Saturday.

Featured as part of the program will be a "discount meal" set-up by restaurants in the area for theater-goers who present tickets at the restaurant either before or after the performances.

Restaurants involved in the program are Little Caesar's, the Village Sub Shop, Big Boy's and Flagg's.

Due to a misunderstanding in communications, Belleville High School had informed The Belleville Enterprise that Flagg's Restaurant would be involved in the discount meal concept during last weekend's performances. A spokesman from Belleville High asked that an apology, concerning the misinformation, be printed for any theater-goers who had difficulty in going to Flagg's for a discount meal.

However, despite last weekend's problems, Flagg's has agreed to implement the discount program for this weekend's performances.

Famous documents bring U.S. history to school libraries

The Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4434 of Sumpter Township has been distributing a parchment facsimile book of the nation's famous documents to area schools and libraries.

Both auxiliary President Edna C. Harris and Bicentennial Chairman Anne M. Molik have been circulating the books to school districts throughout the Van Buren-Belleville Community.

Auxiliary members believe the books will provide students the "feel" of the documents which helped shape the American way of life.

Included in the list of documents furnished through the book are the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution — including the Bill of Rights — the Monroe Doctrine, the National Anthem, a copy of the Gettysburg Address and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Two copies of the documents have been presented to the various libraries for distribution to the public, and one copy of each will be sent to each of the public schools.

Sale funds Appalachian trip Youth fellowship aids poor

The First United Methodist Church Senior United Methodist Youth Fellowship will be holding a garage sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 22 to raise money for its annual Appalachian trip.

The sale is scheduled to be held in the First United Methodist Church parking lot at Church and Roys streets in Belleville.

Persons wishing to donate items which are sellable are urged to call either the Rev. Joy E. Arthur at 697-9288 or drop off the items at the First United Methodist Church the next week.

The garage sale will raise funds to finance the youth fellowship's annual trip to the Appalachians, scheduled for June.

The fellowship went to the Appalachians last year to help the poor of that region of the country repair homes and maintain their communities.

Items to be donated to the sale should include the donor's name, if the donor would like them back should they be passed over by prospective buyers.

Otherwise, items which are donated and not sold will be given to the Salvation Army.

The Senior Youth Fellowship is billing the sale as a "spring cleanup and spring buy-up" opportunity for residents of the community.

Persons who want to rid themselves of some of the useful items for which they may not have use now can donate them. And persons seeking a "treasure" at low costs can peruse the sale and find what they want.

The concert will be open to the public.

Fifth grade winners

Youngest wrestlers

Friends honor 2 retirees

More than 135 friends, relatives, fellow and former employees gathered at the VFW Hall in Romulus recently to honor Walter Kusak and Frank Mientkiewicz, the first city workers to retire in Romulus.

Dancing and a program, emceed by Hyle Carmichael, marked the retirement party. Former township supervisor Rod Smith also was on hand as the guest speaker.

Romulus Mayor Jimmy Stewart presented the two men with engraved gold watches on behalf of the city, while a Polish tree was presented to both as personal gifts by Elvera Fischer, the city employee with highest seniority.

Kusak's relatives came from as far away as Chicago, Ill., for the party, while Grace Kutcher, a former employee and trustee, came from Ewen, Mich.

The party was organized by Russ Makowski, Willie Hester and Mrs. Fischer, who received a corsage from the employees of the Treasurer's office during the party.

Employees join union

The non-supervisory employees, including police officers, in Sumpter Township have voted to join Metropolitan Council 23 of The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), AFL-CIO, Local 755.

In a recent election supervised by the Employment Relations Commission of the Michigan Department of Labor, eight votes were cast for the AFSCME local and four for the Police Officers Association. Two other ballots were challenged in the voting.

School completed a 2-month long "wrestling tournament," held during the noon recess time at the school.

More than 70 fourth through sixth grade students were taught the "legal" means to "take down" an opponent, how to "ride" an opponent and pinning holds during the February-March demonstration and tournament.

The "tournament" marked the fourth consecutive year that students from Elwell studied the Greek-style wrestling used in the Olympic games.

Such stalwarts of the South Junior High School Wrestling Squad as Joe Justin, Blair Temple, Doug Burke, Jeff Rose, Brian Brice, Steve Sheldon and Bob Sykes are "graduates" of the course.

This year, several students reached "champion" status for their showing in the weight and grade levels during the final days of instruction at Elwell.

Heavyweight winners in the sixth grade division include Larry Petrowski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Petrowski of Crandell Court; Melvin Richendollar, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Richendollar of Harris Road, and Kevin Nota, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nota of Elwell Road.

Lightweight division winners include Scott Ford, the son of Mrs. Beverly Ford of Sumpter Road; Billy Simmons, the son of Mrs. Ellen Reume of Harris Road, and Richard Graves, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Graves of Bemis Road.

In the fifth-grade division, heavyweight winners include Mike Barnes, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barnes of Savage Road; Bob Butzin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Butzin of Montague, and Craig Daroci, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daroci of Paris Road.

Lightweight division winners include Tom Uminski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Uminski of Savage Road; Don Pinson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Pinson, and Steve Bogle, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bogle of Sumpter Road.

Winners in the fourth-grade heavyweight division include Steve Turrentine, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ottoway Turrentine of Harris Road; Mitch Petroski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Petrowski of Savage Road, and Ken Pitts, the son of Mr.

6th grade champs

"wrestling tournament," scheduled during February and March. The three standing students were heavyweight division winners while the three kneeling students were lightweight division winners in their grades.

2 PCHA member cities ask non-support of House bill

The Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) has been asked by representatives of Dearborn Heights and River Rouge not to get involved in the passage of Senate Bill 1061. The request came during a recent PCHA meeting.

The bill which has passed the Senate and is now in the House of Representatives, changes the manner in which elections may be called for the purpose of assessing millage for new plant construction in hospital authorities in Michigan.

Adoption of the resolution was tabled, and the board directed chairman Donald J. Pizzimanti, to send a letter to all PCHA member communities to provide all the facts concerning the measure.

Pizzimanti also appointed an executive search committee to seek a replacement for Karl S. Klicka, M.D., the current executive director. Klicka will retire on December 31 after a little more than 10 years' service.

Also during the meeting Pizzimanti instructed the personnel committee to move as quickly as possible in selecting an administrator for the new Heritage

Hospital in Taylor.

The hospital is approximately six months ahead of its construction schedule, and based on current progress, should begin accepting patients in February 1977.

With the completion of Heritage Hospital, PCHA will provide 1,240 patient beds and a 31-bed psychiatric service.

PCHA now operates four hospitals: Annapolis in Wayne, Beyer Memorial in Ypsilanti, Outer Drive in Lincoln Park, and Seaway in Trenton.

Unemployment aid available for forced maternity leaves

Michigan women have until June 30 to retroactively file for unemployment benefits if they were forced from their jobs because of pregnancy for any period from June 30, 1965 through July 27, 1974, according to S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

Taylor said the June 30 cutoff date stems from a U.S. District Court order issued in December, 1975, and expands upon the initial order issued in July, 1974.

In 1974 the Commission was ordered by the District Court to consider any claim filed by a woman who was forced from her job because of mandatory maternity leaves imposed under employer policies or union contracts.

The December, 1975, order stated that the MESC must also allow retroactive filing for a woman if she was discharged or required to quit because the company or union contract would not allow her to work beyond a certain week or month of pregnancy.

Taylor urged all women to file claims now if, after June 30, 1965, they were forced because of pregnancy to take a leave of absence or were discharged, laid-off or required to quit.

The court order applies to women who have filed before May 31, 1974, and received a denial, or women who never filed at all while unemployed, because of their belief that mandatory pregnancy separations from employment made them ineligible for unemployment benefits.

Claims can be filed at any MESC Job Service office. Women retroactively filing an unemployment benefit claim should provide proof of employment and wage information. This proof can be in the form of income tax returns, W-2 forms or payroll stubs.

Those wishing to file a claim should report to their MESC Job Service office on their next reporting day which is determined by the last digit of their social security numbers. Those with 0 or 1 report on Monday; 2 or 3 on Tuesday; 4 or 5 on Wednesday; 6 or 7 on Thursday; and 8 or 9 on Friday.

3 students win poster competition

Three students from Mt. Pleasant Elementary School in Romulus have been picked as winners in a poster contest as part of the city's official cleanup campaign.

The youngsters—Tom Scamp, Mike Osborne and Sue Omarzu—created posters around the theme of "Building Pride in Romulus."

The youngsters will submit their posters for the city-wide judging, which will involve all schools in the community.

The first, second and third place finishers in the competition will each receive a $25 U.S. Savings Bond, with the top poster to be used in the city's next beautification program.

The top posters will be on display at the Romulus Public Library.

On the local level, Tom, a sixth grader, was the first-place finisher, while Mike, who is the sixth grade student, was second and Sue, a third grader, was third.

Hopefuls to speak to voters

Two candidates for different political positions will be in Romulus this weekend to speak to potential supporters.

The first candidate to arrive in the Western Wayne County community will be Alabama Gov. George Wallace, a Democratic hopeful for that party's presidential nomination, who will speak at the Ramada Inn near Detroit Metropolitan Airport at 8 p.m. Friday.

The visit will be part of a 2-day swing through the state by the governor.

The second political candidate to visit the area will be Don Reigle, a contender for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Phillip Hart.

Reigle will be at the UAW local 157 Hall, located at 29841 Van Born, to debate another contender, Congressman James O'Hara, at 10 a.m.

As Panax sees it

Debating side issues
has hurt 'Seafarer'

From the day Project Seafarer's name was first mentioned in public, its opponents have been busy creating one bogeyman after another in a continuous attempt to discredit the project.

Their approach has been to divert our attention from the central issues involved and get everyone tangled up in debating irrelevant side issues.

Sadly, this tactic seems to be working.

The latest evidence of its success comes in the way different state officials have reacted to a small item in the Navy's proposed budget for fiscal 1976-77.

That item is for $4.65 million. It would go for the start of a test site for the project after a final site is picked for it next spring. Not a penny would be spent until a final site is picked. The money was put in the budget request because site selection is scheduled for April and the fiscal year runs through Sept. 30. The Navy has specifically said it wouldn't use any of the money until a final site is chosen.

But you'd never know that from the reaction to it. The opponents to Seafarer are saying this item, which is nothing more than good budget procedure, proves the Navy is ready to sneak Seafarer into the U.P., no matter what.

And now our state political leaders, acting either from misinformation or from a desire to placate opponents, have called on Congress not to allocate the $4.65 million. First the Legislature passed a resolution urging Congress to delete the money. The resolution urged that no project be started until "all vital information as to the personal health of all Michigan's citizens, together with all pertinent data involving long and short term biological, environmental and economic effects have been accurately determined through input of all necessary groups and agencies."

Which is precisely what the environmental review process now being carried out is all about.

Then Gov. Milliken sent a mailgram to our Congressional delegation urging it to vote against the $4.65 million.

The governor said the Navy's request shouldn't be granted until the following fiscal year, saying the authorization would be "premature at this time." What he and the legislators are saying is that once a decision is made on where to locate Seafarer — and we should remember both Nevada and New Mexico would like to have it — nothing should be done for five months. These are the same politicians who countless times have urged immediate action on pet projects to help keep a lid on costs pushed up by inflation the longer action waits.

What is being lost in all this nit picking, however, is the central purpose of Seafarer. Its purpose is to allow U.S. submarines to cruise at much deeper levels while receiving radio messages than they can now.

The deeper they can cruise, the harder it is for the Russians to find them. The harder they are to find, the more credible is our deterrent force.

Talking about credible deterrent will bring shouts of derision from some "fashionable" quarters. But it is a very real worry of our nation's leaders and the most important element of our defense.

It's the difference between having a body guard Muhammad Ali or Woody Allen. If you expect your opponents to take you seriously, they must know you are serious.

The sad, and dangerous part, is that the discussion of Seafarer has been drawn so far from the real questions, and from the truth.

As I see it

Some students see moral,
ethical code as unrealisticBy BOB COCHRANE
Editor of Enterprise-Roman

The overwhelming majority of Americans certainly would want their elected officials to hold a higher moral and ethical standard than an ordinary citizen, right?

Would you believe a majority of 12 high school finalists in a Westland Rotary Law Day essay contest didn't feel this way?

Seven of the students criticized what they considered to be a double standard that exists today in the area of moral and ethical standards regarding public officials.

Does this mean that many of our young people view Watergate and other political indiscretions in a different light than the rest of us?

Yes and no. I don't believe they would condone graft and corruption in high places, but they likely would excuse lesser improprieties as long as they did not affect an official's job.

Whereas we may see Watergate as a frightfully scandalous interlude in our political processes, which points up more than ever the need for our political officials to be morally and ethically fit for office, many youths apparently look at Watergate as the product of an imperfect society where public servants are no better or no worse than the people who elected them.

Those who adopted this attitude said that, ideally, public officials should have a higher moral and ethical code, but that it was unrealistic.

"All people, whether they be elected officials or just ordinary citizens, have the responsibility to set their own standards: How high or low they might be is relative," one contestant wrote.

Most felt that an official's moral and ethical standards are two different matters.

If the official were doing the job he was elected to do, his personal life should be of no consequence.

Only when "society raises its moral and ethical standards should an elected official be expected to do likewise," another contestant wrote.

"Just because his calling in life is a different one than yours and mine doesn't mean his whole lifestyle should be changed to fit into the saintly mold most people have made for public officials," a third writer said.

Several felt that if an official's moral or ethical indiscretions were violating the public trust then it would be up to the public to remove him from office.

Boiled down, the seven believe that a strict adherence to high professional ethics is difficult to maintain. Rather, they feel, officials should be judged on how well they serve their country and not on their extracurricular involvements.

As one writer put it, "the fate of the world relies in the people who are concerned with getting the job done than whether or not they win the 'Pulitzer Prize for purity.'"

Ironically, the three winners were not of the majority view point, but of the attitude that public officials must be held accountable for their moral and ethical actions.

As one put it, "They (public officials) must make a choice before they decide to try for an office. They cannot lead the ordinary life of a private citizen concerning ethical and moral standards that have been established in this country. Being in the public eye elected officials have little privacy. It is their choice, though, and if they live according to the standards as expected of them, elected officials will enjoy the respect of their voters and fellow citizens. If not the wrath of the public will haunt them forever."

In my opinion, that still sums up the essence of public service.

Barr calls for 'YES' vote on tax levy for new jailBy JOHN BARR
Chairman, Wayne County Board of Commissioners

I'm going to vote "YES" or Proposition A on the May 18 ballot. The issue is:

Do we — the homeowners — pay for a new jail with cash?

Or —
Do we borrow money and over the years pay interest that will more than double the cost of the facility?

A "YES" vote on Proposition A means a voter wants to pay cash.

A "NO" vote will require borrowing and interest.

Thus, Proposition "A" is a "pocketbook" issue.

Supporters have adopted the slogan: "Protect Your Pocketbook — Vote YES on Proposition A."

This has a double meaning. First, a "YES" vote will save money. Further, a "YES" vote will help keep accused criminals off the street, thereby reducing the likelihood of criminal acts.

The background of facts concerning the issue are:

1. State law requires the county to provide adequate detention facilities for accused persons awaiting trial.

2. The Circuit Court of Wayne County, supported by an order from the State Supreme Court, has ordered the Board of Commissioners to provide adequate facilities.

3. Conditions in the present overcrowded jail are inhumane and would demand correction even without court order.

4. The Board of Commissioners has reviewed every possible alternative and found none that would meet the needs other than new jail construction.

5. The only question remaining is whether voters want to pay the cost quickly and as cheaply as possible.

If Proposition "A" is approved, the revenues from one-half mill special assessment on all property will provide about $35 million over a five-year period. This will pay the construction cost of the new jail in Downtown Detroit and provide part of the funds needed for operations.

If Proposition "A" fails, the added cost will range between $35 million and $70 million for interest, depending upon the cost of a bond issue and the period of the issue. Inasmuch as the County of Wayne has not recently issued bonds, there is no recent experience for basing an interest cost estimate. County fiscal experts estimate a rate of slightly more than eight percent. At this rate, the cost for a 25-year bond issue would be $47 million.

Regardless of which means of funding is utilized, the taxpayers of Wayne County will have to pay the cost.

With the average home assessed at $12,000 (one-half the retail value), the cost per average household if the one-half mill is approved, would be $6 per year for five years — or $30.

The problem of lack of jail facilities is not a problem faced only by the County of Wayne.

It is a problem in nearly every community in the United States. The more wealthy areas.

Oakland County, for instance, have dealt with the problem in recent years and built new facilities.

However, in many urban counties, the funds needed have not been available. Demands for other services and facilities have been given priority.

In these areas, as in Wayne County, local lock-ups and county detention centers are in serious trouble.

This may be only the tip of the iceberg. State prisons and federal prisons likewise are being crammed.

Three sweeping forces have converged to make this situation severely critical across the country.

One is a population swelling in the ranks of persons in the late teens and early twenties. We are now at the crest of the aftermath of that baby boom that occurred after World War II. There is a "surplus" of young people who are not employed and who are not in college and who are therefore obviously more prone to get into trouble with the law and to end up in jail.

The second is the economic condition of the nation. We are in a depression in the Detroit area. We have prairies of poverty and our system is not responding with enough jobs soon enough. This doubles the difficulty for young people prone to get into trouble.

Finally, there is a steady surging of social conscience in our country. People are demanding a system of justice that is more fair. Requiring accused persons who may eventually be found innocent to spend time in sub-human conditions in sub-standard jails is offensive to our American sense of fair play. The result: new standards for jail facilities at all levels. Penologists as well as sociologists say to salvage more wayward people we should improve our penal system.

When we put the three factors together, we have a collision of forces that creates the present jail crisis.

Since 1971, the howls of these dissidents and the responses of the courts have beclouded the fact that the Board of Commissioners has invested $6 million toward improvements in the existing county jail facilities.

The Board of Commissioners acknowledges that this has not been sufficient to meet the needs. We do want to make the point that the Board has sought to make the best possible use of the dollars available for many programs the county needs... and that it has endeavored to meet needs at the jail.

But this has not been enough. Facing the new reality that at least another 400 cells are needed now, the Board of Commissioners is committed to proceeding with new jail construction in Downtown Detroit.

I believe the people of the communities of our county will agree with their Chiefs of Police — men like John O'Reilly of Dearborn and Robert Turner of Livonia, who know the need — and will vote "YES" on Proposition "A" on Tuesday.

As they see it

Parent discipline is needed

To the editor:
So many inferences are being made in this decade about the discipline or the non-discipline of children and young people, but I wonder if these same people have ever conceived the idea that "parent discipline" is really what is needed.

When young people enter marriage today, they think more of the psychological aspect of letting their children be "free" when they become parents. I firmly believe that it is this idea that turns many young immature adults into undisciplined parents.

I am not suggesting that they enter into the role of a child abuser or to rough up the child. I am only suggesting that they enter into a "togetherness" relationship and be firm with the child. Do not be on to every whim and cry of the child. Too much of anything can spoil a youngster.

Parents feel that since they have been deprived of needful things as they were growing up that their child is not going to suffer this same consequence.

Also, you have heard the old adage or proverb that "Together we stand, divided we fall," and another like unto this, "A house divided against itself can not stand." This same point holds true in raising our children. If two parents cannot agree on simple matters of discipline, or in rearing the child this reflects in the behavior of that child.

Another grave mistake made by the parents today, as well as in the past, is that so many times one parent will favor one child, and the other parent will favor another. Children become confused and sometimes feel unloved, or unwanted which, in their adolescent years, can really become a problem.

All these remarks are made to suggest the fact, that it is not always the child that becomes a discipline problem or delinquent, if you will, but if the problem was weighed, it more or less, would show that it is indeed the parent that has a disciplinary problem, and could be classified as a delinquent parent.

Before judging all the young people today, stop for a moment and ask yourself a few simple questions, weigh the answers, and see if you fit into any of the categories that would make you, the parent, the delinquent, and not your child. So many times we can see ourselves, as if it were a mirror, in our children.

If parents would only stop long enough to think rationally, they could see that every child is a young adult and should be treated in this respect. If we, as parents, want our young children to grow up to become valuable and worthwhile citizens, then we should set before them certain ideals and standards that will enable them to grow into something of value, and hold to the principles that they can cherish all their lives. Then, maybe they will thank their parents for giving them the chance to prove these concepts as they become adults and parents of a new generation that could be considered disciplined and not fall into the category of an undisciplined or delinquent parent.

Left Busted, Broke and Bent

Have you ever thought of life alone?
And making your own way
when your hubby don't come home?
Life ain't the same I say.

He did so many little things you now must do alone.
In your heart there is a sting
just knowing he'll never come home.

Each week there is no pay day,
but the bills keep coming in.
You are too young, no help they say.
'Til you're 60 you can't win.

People tell me this and that,
and all they say ain't right.
'Cause I end up with my old back against a wall so tight.

I cut the grass and pull the weeds.
I try to keep things so nice.
The things I do now he don't need,
and it just don't seem right.

But I will give it one good try to make it on my own.
But there's days I sit and cry
'cause hubby doesn't come home.

So you make all days happy and both walk side by side.
'Cause you will miss your pappy
if he up and died.

Mother O'Mine

Golden chain of memories
Linked with Mother O'Mine.
When I was weary, you made things
less dreary,
Dear Mother O'Mine,
Though your hair's snowy white,
Your smile is as bright,

And your eyes put to shame starry light.
I still learn on your might,
Giving thanks for the right,
To whisper, Mother O'Mine "Good

To Care

To show a friend that you really do care,
When it seems like the world has left us in dispare, Especially when a loved one has gone to Heaven in the air.
Even though we are left with one who is willing to share,
We still need true friends, which is rare,
Some can't bend their pride to even say hello; to them it would be unfair.
All they do is talk and snare,
Their friendship is less than a fine hair.
A time will come and their heart will fear.
They think they'll go to Heaven but can't get in there.
When judgment comes, they'll wish they hadn't had such an affair.
But there is still time to get our hearts in repair.
To let one know that the road ahead is not so hard to bear.
A few minutes out of our lives is easy to spare,
To show someone you found a spot in your heart to care.

Selling of Carter: A deceptive strategy

JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

Washington — "I am now convinced," asserted Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss on May 3, "that we will have our most united effort since 1964 this November. Carter will not cause the kind of antagonisms that George McGovern did."

Strauss knows this better than anyone since it was he and other liberals and left-wingers in the party who hand-picked former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter shortly after the 1972 McGovern landslide defeat. And it was Strauss who surrounded Carter with former McGovern braintrusts and former associates of liberal ex-New York Mayor John V. Lindsay to groom the pliable Georgia peanut farmer for his role as the presidential candidate of the left-wing Democrats while masquerading as a Southern moderate and conservative.

"Your farmer, military, religious and conservative background," wrote Carter's principal aide, Hamilton Jordon, in 1972, "would be well received."

In fact, we know that Strauss paid the expenses and salary of Carter's principal aides from Democratic National Committee funds from 1973 until the Carter bandwagon began rolling and large contributions from former McGovern, Humphrey, and Kennedy supporters began pouring in.

When this fact was publicly revealed, Carter's press aide, Jody Powell, threatened to sue this columnist unless a retraction was issued. In reply, last December, we said we would be happy to issue a public retraction and apology if a notarized letter was sent to us swearing that the three Carter aides named as on the payroll of the Democratic National Committee had not, in fact, been paid from party funds. To this day we have never received such a letter.

The above and other examples illustrate the strategy of deception being employed by the Democrats with Carter as the frontman. Reduced to its essentials, it is a Northern strategy with a Southern figurehead, devised by Northern liberals and left-wingers of the Democratic Party.

Carter is a seeming Southern moderate to conservative who trades on his religious beliefs to co-op and capture the growing bloc of religious-conservative Democrats supporting Wallace in what has come to be called the "sunbelt states" of the South, Southeast, Southwest and West. So far the impressive primary wins in those states by Carter has shown that the strategy of Hamilton Jordon and Robert Strauss has worked brilliantly.

The selling of this Carter image to the press is detailed in a memo written by Jordon and published in the May 10, 1976, issue of Newsweek. "It is necessary that we begin immediately," wrote Jordon in a 70-page memo written a few days after the crushing McGovern defeat in 1972, "to generate favorable stories and comments in the national press. Stories in the New York Times and Washington Post don't just happen, but have to be carefully planned and planted."

The Jordon memo also spelled out how Carter was to be carefully groomed and programmed to appeal to a large segment of the voters who went for Richard Nixon in 1972 because they believed that he best represented solid middle-class social and religious values. Carter fitted the Strauss-Jordon formula perfectly. It is, therefore, no mystery why Carter's appeal has produced the string of primary victories in 1976; he talks like a Reagan conservative, but thinks like a McGovern liberal.

This strategy of deception has on several occasions flashed into the open. For example, during the recent Indiana primary a Carter speechwriter, Robert Shrum, angrily resigned and publicly accused Carter of saying one thing in his speeches and another to his staff and being "manipulative and deceptive." Carter lost his normal cool when reporters questioned him on the charge, first refusing to answer questions. Shrum said later that Carter's reaction to his resignation was further evidence "of the deceptive nature of the campaign."

However, that deception is not entirely Carter's doing and dates back to 1972 a few days after George McGovern was buried in a blizzard of Nixon ballots. It was then that the liberals and left-wing of the Democratic Party realized that to capture the White House in 1976 they needed to devise a strategy that sounded conservative, religious, and traditional—but with a candidate who could be counted on to repudiate those principles once in power.

no indication when it will be reported out of the full House Government Operations Committee. The Senate is not expected to act until after a bill is passed by the House.

Griffin characterized federal revenue sharing as being free "of much of the costly, often counterproductive, bureaucratic red tape associated with most categorical grant programs."

"Revenue sharing funds have helped states and communities maintain vital public services and stabilize crushing tax burdens — particularly real property and sales taxes that fall hardest on blue collar workers and the elderly."

According to Griffin, Congressional delay already has proved costly. He explained:

"One of the many advantages of the revenue sharing program in the past has been the fact that state and local governments were aware in advance of the level of funding they were to receive from year to year. As a result, there was the opportunity to plan wisely for use of the money."

Detroit, for example, has been receiving $40 million in revenue sharing funds annually. City officials now are not sure whether that level will be maintained or even whether any such money will be forthcoming.

So long as Congress allows that uncertainty to bother state and local officials everywhere "the welfare of millions of Americans" remains in doubt, Griffin insisted.

U.S. 'okays' systematic destruction of Rhodesia

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON — The United States will not help stone to death the white government of Rhodesia. We will, however, be pleased to hold everyone's coat and provide the refreshments.

This is President Gerald Ford's "message of commitment and co-operation," delivered by Dr. Kissinger to an enthusiastic audience in Lusaka, Zambia. On hearing the marvelous news from Washington, Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda rushed to the podium to express his gratitude. Henry's stock, in a months-long slide in the Eastern press, turned bullish again.

The victory for those within the Department of State who have long pushed for a policy of "relentless opposition" to the pro-Western and white governments in southern Africa is complete.

The Secretary wants all Americans out of Rhodesia. He warns against any U.S. citizen visiting the pariah Republic. He applauds the action of Rhodesia's neighbors in cutting ties to Salisbury. He has committed the United States to the lead role in convincing other Western states to join in the strangulation of the Rhodesian economy.

Marxist Mozambique, which severed landlocked Rhodesia's lifeline to the sea and is training guerrillas to murder Rhodesian farmers and white tourists, will be rewarded for this contribution to justice, peace and progress with an initial grant of $12.5 million from the American taxpayer. There is more where that came from, the Secretary told his delighted listeners.

Congress will be asked to repeal the Byrd Amendment which allows U.S. industry to import Rhodesian chrome. This will terminate most of our trade with the immoral Rhodesians. And it will increase U.S. dependence for chrome upon the Soviet Union, our primary supplier, which charges us exorbitantly, but which is working with Henry to build that "humane and progressive world order," the Secretary spoke of at length in Lusaka.

It is impertinent to ask what the American Government is doing funding an international conspiracy to destroy a friendly government which has done the United States no harm and which only wishes the American people well? What outrage is it that Prime Minister Ian Smith and his colleagues committed that the United States has joined hands with some of the most sordid regimes on earth to bring about their destruction?

Because, claims our Secretary of State, "We support self-determination, majority rule, equal rights and human dignity for all the peoples of Southern Africa in the name of moral principles, international law and world peace."

But are human rights and human dignity more heavily trampled upon in Rhodesia than in Angola, Uganda, Czechoslovakia, Cambodia, Cuba or the People's Republic of China?

The Rhodesian Government is hated the world over not because it is anti-democratic, militarist, dictatorial, interventionist or barbaric. On these counts it ranks far behind four-fifths of the "family of man." The Rhodesian Government is detested because it is white. When Henry Kissinger talks about majority rule, he means black rule. And no one at the United Nations particularly cares whether or not that rule is shaped in the image of Idi Amin — so long as it is black. Where in Africa does genuine "majority rule" exist? Of the 49 countries on the Continent, 15 are under direct military control, 29 are one-party regimes. The average citizen of Tanzania, Angola or Uganda has about as much say in the structure of his country's economy and the shape of its society as does the average citizen of Prague or Budapest. Despite Henry's little diplomatic lies about peace and justice and majority rule, the United States has shouldered its way into the vanguard of this racist enterprise for the crassest of motives. The Department of State believes the black guerrillas are going to triumph; this time, unlike Angola, they want the United States — not the Soviets or Cubans — to get the credit and share in the spoils.

"My journey is... to usher in a new era in American policy," said the Secretary.

Griffin urges Congress act on revenue sharing

By TOM OCHILTREE
Panax Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.), believes the failure of Congress to extend the general federal revenue sharing program has pushed numerous local governmental units in Michigan and elsewhere, "closer and closer to the brink of financial disaster."

In a sharply worded speech on the Senate floor last week Griffin said it was time for Congress to stop stalling on this important matter.

As it is, the senator said, Congressional foot dragging has created a worrying situation for state and local officials preparing budgets who "need to know now whether the program will end or will be extended."

Since revenue sharing was enacted in 1972 the federal government has made more than $23 billion available to the states and local communities.

The program will expire in December unless Congress approves its continuation. In an election year and in view of the official distractions resulting from the American Bicentennial, there is little enough time to get revenue sharing through Congress this year.

Continuation of the program was urged by President Ford more than a year ago, but Congress hardly has moved on the issue since, said Griffin, the Senate's deputy minority leader.

A House subcommittee has marked up a renewal bill but there is

VB Township parade to salute Bicentennial

Mapping out parade route

constable, is chairman of the event. Luebke and Mrs. Herrmann are among those comprising the parade committee which has been meeting for the past few months. One of the many trophies to be awarded by a panel of judges is also shown.

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor
The nation's birthday celebration has been marked by various programs and activities planned from the co-op nursery set on up to the senior citizen circuit.

One of the highlights of the year and probably one of the biggest undertakings will be the Van Buren Township Bicentennial Parade scheduled for July 3 at 3 p.m.

George Heifner, Van Buren Township constable, successfully chaired last year's Fourth of July pageantry and is again tackling the monumental job which involves permits, floats, bands and other entries, police and volunteer assistance, refreshments viewing stands, judges, routes, parking — you name it!

Assisting him on the parade committee are his wife, Maxine Heifner, Lee Herrmann, secretary; Edward Luebke, Steve Kuchta, Bill Wolters, Dorothy York and Joe Wyatt.

The group has pinpointed a 1-mile stretch on Ecorse Road, between Belleville and Beck Roads, as the site for the procession. Entries are currently being accepted and those interested in taking part are asked to contact the Heifners at 697-7560 for further information and to register.

Several local service clubs and organizations have already sent representatives to a general meeting and have expressed interest in sharing in the event.

Among those already lined up are the Lions Club of Belleville, the Suburban Estates Teen Club which will enter a color guard, float, Indian guides and horses; Lemontree Apartments, the Belleville Bicentennial Committee, the Kelsey Hayes Co. which will submit a float, and the Glass Gathering Corvette Club which will supply a caravan of decorated cars.

The committee is especially pleased to announce the many musical groups which are promising their services for the celebration. Two divisions — the Patriots and the Colonials — from the Plymouth Fire and Drum Corps (just back from the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C.) will add color and dash to the proceedings as will the Brigadiers of Dearborn Heights, a majorette-musical corps.

The Praesidiums, an all-girl drum and bugle corps and the 1975 VFW State Champions, also will add their talents as they march in review.

Others entering are the Sea-way Strutters of Allen Park, a musical majorette corps; The Belleville High School Marching Band, the Pace-setters Musical Corps of Taylor, another award-winning group, who will present an exhibition in front of the reviewing stand immediately after the parade.

The U.S. Marine Corps will provide a color guard for the entourage and the Belleville Senior Citizens Club is planning to construct a float.

A number of clowns and colorfully regaled horses will also be judged. Any Cub Scout, Boy Scout, Girl Scout, Brownie or Campfire Girl leader caring to have their troops participate are welcome as are those wishing to ride their prize or pet horses or decorated bicycles.

A special part of the parade will be a bicycle contest with a trophy for the best decorated bike. Entry forms for this category will be available at the Van Buren Township Hall or may be obtained by calling George Heifner.

All area service groups will be on hand to assist with parking, public address systems, refreshments, seating, etc. Judges who will sit in the reviewing stand and the parade's grand marshal are yet to be chosen. Trophies for all categories will be awarded.

A visitor from Tennessee and a resident of Belleville shared birthday honors at a family gathering May 2 at the home of Nick and Pauline Lewis of Crandell Court.

Nick and his mother-in-law, Carrie Lovelace who turned 80 on April 28, were the honored guests for whom relatives prepared a full course cooperative dinner and two separate birthday cakes.

Taking part in the festivities and saying "hello" to Mrs. Lovelace who arrived from Elizabethton, Tenn. to spend the summer months, were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lovelace and family and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sanders of Westland; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lovelace and family and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lovelace, all of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Bryant and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Erhart of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lewis of Willis and Jerry Lewis of Belleville.

Millers feted on 35th

Glenn and Maxine Miller of Elwell Road, Belleville, were the surprised guests of honor May 2 at a party observing their 35th wedding anniversary. Hosting the happy event were the couple's children, Perry and Beverly Points, Kristin and Noelle of Howell and Bob and Kathy Miller, Michelle and Jeff of Belleville.

Held at the Points home in Howell, the 2 p.m. party had 107 friends and relatives attending from Belleville, Ypsilanti, Willis, Wayne and Howell. Among the special guests were The Rev. Ivan Gonzer, who married the Millers on April 30, 1941, and his wife from Lansing.

A buffet luncheon complete with an anniversary cake topped with the Miller's original wedding cake ornament was served.

Infant is baptized

Ryan Christopher Clemons, who was born Oct. 14, received the sacrament of baptism on Mother's Day at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth. His parents, Ron and Janie Clemons of Plymouth, asked their close friends, Jay and Kay Hartford of Belleville, to be their new son's sponsors.

Presiding at the 3:30 p.m. rite was the infant's great-uncle, The Rev. William J. Richards of Kalamazoo, who joined other relatives for a buffet at the Clemons home after the ceremony. Among those attending were the new heir's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. William Clemons of Ypsilanti.

Shower tagged 'miscellaneous'

Phyllis Keyser and Doug Raymond have set a May 29 altar date and, in keeping with tradition, the bride-elect was "showered" Thursday night with the many necessary items that help to set up a new household.

Some 36 relatives and friends from Ypsilanti, Westland, New Jersey and Belleville answered invitations to the bridal shower planned by Mrs. Landy Box, Mrs. John MacDermid, Mrs. Richard Muse and Mrs. Jerry Kelly.

Held in the family room of the Box home on North Shore Drive, the room was festooned with green and white streamers and clusters of white wedding bells. A parol of netting in the same colors formed the focal point at the gift table.

The honoree's two sisters, Donna and Stephanie, assisted as she opened her packages following a session of several paper and pencil games. Punch was served with a salad luncheon rounding out the evening.

Taking home the two door prizes, tall pedestal planters, were Mrs. Leo Turney and Mrs. Melvin Prill.

Denise McCollum is April bride of Lawrence A. Ellis

St. Clement's Episcopal Church in Inkster was reserved April 24 for the double ring ceremony which united Denise Virginia McCollum and Lawrence A. Ellis in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Peter P. Q. Golden officiated the 8:15 a.m. nuptial mass before some 400 relatives and guests. For the occasion the altar was appointed with white mums, gladiolas and Easter lillies interspersed with mourning doves which symbolized peacefulness.

Soloist for the occasion was the bride's roommate, Jeanette McGruder, who also served as a bridesmaid. Organists were Mrs. John Watkins and Roger Graves.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. McCollum of Harmony Lane, Belleville, the bride appeared in a white creation of soft crimplene jersey designed with a high illusion yoke and full circular skirt reembroidered with pearl-studded Alencon lace. Bishop sleeves and a chapel train were other styling details on the gown.

Her blusher veil was banded in matching lace and her bouquet was comprised of long-stemmed white and gold roses accented with baby's breath.

Preceding the bride to the altar were 10 attendants who carried single long-stemmed roses. As her sister's maid of honor, Janna McCollum's rose was in a golden tone to compliment her sunburst gold and white paisley print qiana gown which was topped with a hooded jacket.

Pamela Fowler, Valerie Wright, Yolanda Solomon, Jeanette McGruder, Joyce Lewis, Kimberly Clark and the bridegroom's two sisters, Carol Ellis and Janet Ellis, were bridal attendants while the bride's sister, Lorna McCollum, filled the role of junior bridesmaid.

The senior attendants carried white roses and donned sunburst gold qiana gowns with hooded jackets. Lorna wore a modified version of their frocks and held a single golden rose.

Flowergirls were Melanie Mansfield and Tonya Nicole Ellis in dresses of white silk eyelet over sunburst gold. Torance Hymes filled the role of ringbearer.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Ellis of Detroit, asked Jerome Lanston to be best man. Others on the equire side were David Howard, James Rawls, Robert Sims, Donald Baker, Roger Radcliff, Lovelle Rivers and Haywood Wadsworth.

Grandparents attending the festivities were Mrs. Virginia Covington of Monroe; Ollie McCollum of Alabama and Mr. and Mrs. Barber of Ecorse.

The newlyweds departed for a short undisclosed wedding trip and plan a delayed honeymoon cruise on the Caribbean in June. They will then make their home in Minneapolis, Minn. where the bridegroom is employed by the Honeywell Corp. as a marketing engineer.

The former Miss McCollum graduated from Belleville High School in 1971 and from Michigan State University (MSU) magna cum laude, in 1975. An affiliate of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, she currently is on the teaching staff at Hannah Middle School in East Lansing.

Her husband is a 1971 alumnus of St. Martin De Pores High School in Detroit. He received his college degree in 1976 from MSU where he affiliated with Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Babies add to local populace

Three new additions to the local population are being reported by their proud parents who reside in the Belleville and Romulus communities.

Curtis and Stephanie Smith of 43805 Bemis Rd., Belleville, announce the arrival of their first child, a daughter, who was titled "Heather Renee." The infant was born April 25 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti and weighed 8 lbs. - 7 ozs.

She is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Sherer of Romulus. Mr. and Mrs. Ian D. Smith of Belleville are the paternal grandparents.

Others adding Heather to their family trees are her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. T.

Deavours and Mr. and Mrs. Alma Deason, all of Alabama, and Horace Henson of Tennessee. Her great-grand parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alexander of Alabama.

Dawn Rene is the name selected by Ted and Sandy Hoinka for their newest family member. Born March 27 at Metropolitan Hospital in Detroit, Dawn's weight was recorded at 9 lbs. - 2 ozs.

On her homecoming to 9416 Barry Dr., Romulus, she was greeted by her two brothers, Steven, six, and Mark, four.

The children's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hogan of Belleville and Mrs. Rose Hoinka of Farmington.

Elwell Elementary School held its annual PTO Carnival April 30, the purpose of the carnival being to raise money to purchase materials and equipment for the school. Last year the PTO purchased concrete play equipment for the playground. This year's goal is to purchase sand tables for the kindergarten rooms and additional swings for the playground.

Special attractions at the 1976 carnival were three drawings for two 10-speed bicycles which were sold to the PTO by Henry and Lillian Sietz of the Sumpter Ace Hardware.

Winners were Tracy DePriest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon DePriest of 17225 Bak Road and Nancy Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bailey of 48543 Sully Drive.

The second drawing was for a huge stuffed animal and the third drawing a Bicentennial quilt which was made by Mrs. Kathy Manning of Sully Drive. The proceeds from the quilt went to help sponsor the sixth grade students' outdoor education program.

The carnival which was a huge success was due to the efforts of the parents of Elwell School. Without their help and financial support this event would never have been a reality. Carnival co-chairmen Mrs. Georgiann Warren and Mrs. Kaye Rose deserve a good portion of the credit.

The Elwell PTO chose this event to honor Earl McLaughlin, Elwell's custodian, for 18 years of devoted service. They presented him with a plaque and a watch since he is retiring in June. Mrs. Ruth Clift, school secretary, was presented with a charm bracelet and a dozen roses as a token of appreciation for her help to the PTO.

Romulus HS band to play in Dearborn

Everything that made the country fair "a much anticipated and well-remembered annual event a century ago is included in the County Fair of Yesteryear at the village. Parades, marching bands, farm animals, old-time crafts demonstrations and a variety show highlight the activities.

Each day will begin with a "Cavalcade of Transportation" parade through the village streets. Led by high school bands, the parade will feature a variety of historic vehicles from a stagecoach and Conestoga wagon to highwheel bicycles and antique automobiles. Music sets the pace during Country Fair weekend. Just inside the village entrance, the Pigtown Flingers, an early American orchestra, will set visitor toes tapping. Other musical highlights will include performances by a banjo band, barbershop quartets and 19th century-style folk singers and the country-western sounds of the Oklahoma Prairie Dust Band.

All day, each day of Country Fair there will be things to see and do around the village. The Early Engine Club will be on hand with chugging machinery to show how farm chores were once performed. On the Activities Field, a variety show featuring a magician, ventriloquist and acrobats will be presented twice daily. On May 15 and 16 on the Village Green, the Wheelmen, an organization devoted to keeping alive the heritage of American cycling, will demonstrate the pleasures — and perils — of manipulating high-wheelers.

Throughout the village, craftsmen will be at work demonstrating the skills once essential to comfortable living. Butter churning, cider making, beekeeping and rug hooking are but a few of the many arts they practice.

During Country Fair weekend, two century-old steam locomotives — the Torch Lake and Mason No. 1 — will travel the village perimeter, carrying visitors on nostalgic trips into the past. In Suwanee Park, the merry-go-round will whirl to the music of a band organ and on the nearby lagoon, the paddlewheeler steamboat "Suwanee" will begin weekend operations. Rides in pony carts, horse-drawn carriages and antique automobiles will be available, too.

There is no additional charge for the Country Fair of Yesteryear on May 13-16 beyond the regular Greenfield Village admission.

'Body Parts' has world premiere at WSU theater

The world premiere production of the Wayne State University (WSU) Bicentennial Award-winning play, "The Body Parts of Margaret Fuller" by Esther Broner, has been scheduled for June 10 — 12 at 8:30 p.m. at the Hilberry Theatre, located at Cass and Hancock in Detroit.

The production is part of the dual prize for the winning playwright in the competition, sponsored by the WSU Bicentennial Commission and theatre as part of Detroit's Bicentennial observances. The other part of the prize is a $3,000 cash award, which will be presented to Mrs. Broner officially by WSU President George E. Gullen Jr. at the opening performance.

Mrs. Broner, writer-in-residence and associate professor of English at Wayne State University, is the author of the novel "Her Mothers," published in 1975.

In her prize-winning play, like the leading character in "Her Mothers," Mrs. Broner has written a work based on the life of a 19th century woman, but dealing with our own times. One of the Bicentennial contest judges, Robert Brustein, eminent American critic and dean of the Yale School of Drama, described Mrs. Broner as "that rare thing, a genuine dramatic poet."

The WSU contest was for plays dealing with issues in American history which affect us as individuals and as a nation at the beginning of our third century. The other award-winners were Douglas Paul Isiminger of Dearborn, Julie Jensen of Wayne State University, Dennis Kennedy of Grand Valley State Colleges in Allendale, Michigan, Bruce E. Millan of the Detroit Repertory Theatre, and Robert M. Wall of Dearborn, who each won honorable mention awards of $100.

Reserved seat tickets will be available at the WSU Theatre box office in the Hilberry lobby. Mail orders can be sent to Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, Detroit 48202. The tickets cost $3.50 each.

Independence Day at Ft. Michilimackinac

Series focuses on Michigan's history

In preparation for the United States 200th birthday on July 4, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources is presenting a series of features looking back at the history of the state, but not encompassing all of it as seen by the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

In the first part of the series Keith R. Ridder, park interpreter of Mackinac Island State Park, takes a look at the effect of independence on the Michilimackinac inhabitants.

Walking along the sandy beach east of Fort Michilimackinac, Charles Langlade gazed at the fiery-red sun as it edged over the horizon. It was fitting that he paused to look at this day's spectacular beginning, although unknown to him, it marked the dawn of a new nation.

Hundreds of miles eastward in Philadelphia, Thomas Jefferson and the Continental Congress would adopt the Declaration of Independence before this same sun set. Thirteen colonies would proclaim to the world they now were free from Great Britain.

It was Thursday, July 4, 1776. This dramatic protestation would mean trouble for Michilimackinac's inhabitants, but today, still ignorant of its implications, they went about their usual business.

Sleepy, red-coated soldiers shuffled out of the barracks onto the parade ground for roll call while hung-over voyageurs kindled camp fires to prepare breakfast.

Over on the Rue Diable, Mrs. Marie Ann Cardin Fantaizie could be heard scolding her husband in French for gambling all night. Traders back from the Mississippi country scurried about trying to minimize their losses due to the winter's poor fur harvest.

At Langlade's side was the post commandant, Capt. Arent Schuyler DePeyster of the King's 8th Regiment of Foot. Walking side by side, they evidenced the cultural mix of this frontier community.

DePeyster, a 40-year old native New Yorker, was a dignified, easy going man of culture. Langlade, age 47, a half-breed Frenchman, was a grizzled veteran of many years among the wilds.

The two discussed with dismay and anger the treacherous acts of some eastern colonists. Last year, insurrectionists actually had engaged in bloody combat with the King's troops at Lexington, Concord and Boston, where several of DePeyster's friends had been killed by rebel musket balls. Now DePeyster planned to send help to his beleaguered British comrades.

Even more alarming — in June 1775 — those ungrateful radicals constituting the Continental Congress had authorized an attack on Canada.

By mid-November the rebel Gen. Richard Montgomery had captured Montreal. DePeyster had not learned of this trouble until two months ago when Simon McTavish, a trader, came from Detroit. If Montreal remained in American hands, Michilimackinac would be forced to capitulate since all its supplies came from there.

Gen. George Washington also recognized this fact. In a letter to the commander of his Army's Northern Department — Gen. Philip Schuyler — Washington noted that "If you carry your arms to Montreal should not the garrison of Niagara, Detroit, be called upon to surrender..." Ironically, Gen. Schuyler was Capt. DePeyster's uncle.

Driven out of Montreal and besieged at Quebec, Sir Guy Carleton, governor of Canada, had called upon DePeyster to send him Indian warriors early next summer. The captain had dispatched James Goddard, a trader, to Green Bay "to beat up for Indian volunteers."

Joining these braves were some Ottawa and Chippewa who visited Michilimackinac each summer to receive presents from the commandant and to do business with local traders.

Now, on July 4, 1776, the day had come to leave for Montreal. DePeyster addressed the mustered Indians, stressing the importance of this mission. Michilimackinac was a part of Quebec Province and any threat to the colony must be repulsed. If the rebels retained their control over Montreal, the lucrative fur trade would end.

Duly instructed, Langlade and the tribesmen launched their birch bark canoes into the water and paddled northeast. Their journey was not necessary for 10 days earlier Carleton had written DePeyster with the good news that the rebels had been chased out of Canada and his assistance was no longer needed. But Langlade's men made it to Montreal, received some presents and returned to Michilimackinac.

Although this effort brought no concrete results, it marked the beginning of the American Revolutionary War for the British, Indians and French at Michilimackinac. Throughout the war, the tribes and traders would be called upon to undertake costly expeditions to resist rebel advances in New York and the Illinois country.

Despite the fact no battles actually were fought at the Straits, the fear and uncertainty generated by the war permeated this community, causing it to move to a more defensible location on Mackinac Island in 1781.

How does your garden grow?

Crop transplants are quick and easy

Whether you grow your own or buy them already started, transplants are the quick and easy way to grow tomatoes, peppers, broccoli and other garden crops.

Transplants get a head start over crops sown as seed in the garden and they start producing weeks earlier. Using transplants gives you a better chance of getting a full harvest for your gardening efforts.

The keys to successful gardening with transplants are buying healthy plants and handling them properly. Look for transplants with dark green, healthy looking leaves. Avoid those with yellow, wilted or shriveled leaves. Choose short, compact plants rather than tall spindly ones, and avoid plants with signs of insect or disease problems.

Harden plants for 10 days to two weeks before setting them into the garden. To harden, set flats or pots outdoors in a protected spot on warm, sunny days and water a little less often than usual. This will get plants accustomed to the intense sunlight, cool temperatures and windy conditions they will have to endure in the garden.

Transplant the young plants after the danger of frost is past. You can set them out earlier only if you're willing to protect them against late frosts and cold temperatures.

Pick a cloudy day or evening to transplant. Plants lose a lot of moisture through their leaves. Recent transplants don't have the root system to take up water to replace the evaporated moisture and will wilt very quickly in the sun. Planting them on a cloudy day gives their roots a chance to get established before the plant has to cope with bright sunlight.

Avoid injuring the roots during transplanting. Set transplants in peat pots in the garden pot and all. Remove the bottom of the pot to allow room for rapid root development. Plants in multiple-plant containers should be watered thoroughly and then carefully cut apart with a sharp knife. Cutting the roots will damage them less than tearing them apart.

Plant the transplants a little deeper than they were growing in their containers. Firm the soil around the plants, being sure to cover the top of the peat pot, or the surface of the soil ball in which the transplants grew, and water them thoroughly.

If cutworms have been a problem in past years, protect new transplants with cutworm collars. A paper cup with the bottom cut out or a small can, like a tuna can, with top and bottom removed can be placed around the plant and an inch or so into the soil to keep the worms from snipping the plants off at soil level.

Contrary to popular belief, transplanting does not stimulate plant growth. Transplanting invariably does some damage to plant roots, and that sets the plant back until the root system recovers and begins to function normally again.

Do spring gardening indoors Repot those houseplants

All the spring gardening chores aren't outdoor jobs. According to horticulturists at Michigan State University, spring is the best time to repot potbound houseplants.

Most vigorously growing indoor plants need repotting every year or two. Mature plants that are growing more slowly may not need repotting so often. Some kinds of plants — bromeliads, for example — rarely need repotting at all.

Signs that a plant is potbound include a slowdown in leaf and stem growth even though the plant is fed and watered regularly, need for frequent watering because the soil dries out quickly, and roots either growing on the surface of the soil or poking through the drainage hole of the pot.

The only way to be sure a plant is potbound, however, is to take it out of its pot and examine the root system. Spread the fingers of one hand over the top of the soil and turn the pot upside down. Tap the rim gently against the edge of a table to loosen the soil, and remove the old pot. A solid mass of roots with little or no soil visible indicates the plant is potbound and needs repotting.

Set the mass of roots and soil on the layer of soil mix and carefully fill in around it with potting soil. Firm the soil and continue to add more new soil until it is level with the top surface of the soil ball. Water carefully. If the new soil settles around the soil ball, fill in again.

Set the repotted plant in a shady spot for a week or so to give the roots a chance to get established. Then return the plant to its usual spot and care for it as usual.

Choose a new container about 2 inches deeper and wider than the old one. This usually is one size larger if you're using clay flower pots. Place a layer of broken clay pot or other landscape seem sparsely planted now. Cox noted, but it will prevent that crowded, overgrown look later. Interplanting with short phase plants can overcome the sparse look.

Consider shrubs' growth

Plan ahead in planting

If you're planning on adding trees or ornamental shrubs to your landscape this year, plan ahead suggests Joe Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State University.

"Pruning is no substitute for planning. All plants are immature when they come from the nursery, but you have to plan for their mature size when you plant," he said. "If you plan for the maximum size tree or shrub now, you won't have to prune the top of a tree to keep it out of overhanging wires or remove a shrub because it has overgrown a window or door."

Measure how much space you have available for plant growth and then limit your choices to plants that will not need more room than that to grow, he advised. Choose plants that offer the combination of shape, color, insect and disease resistance, flowers, fruit and other characteristics you want.

Planting small shrubs and trees as far apart as they should be when they reach their mature size may make your

Avoid garden woes; Pick healthy plants

Don't buy problems when you buy bedding plants. Horticulturists at Michigan State University advise you to shop for short, compact, dark green plants. Avoid spindly plants with yellow or wilted leaves, or obvious signs of insect damage or disease.

The biggest plants are not always the best bargain, the experts pointed out. A large, older plant takes longer to recover from the shock of transplanting than a small plant.

A plant with flowers or fruits may not be the best choice, either. A newly transplanted plant cannot concentrate on developing a good root system, if it's channeling all its energies into developing fruit and flowers. And without a good, healthy root system, the plant will not grow and produce well the rest of the reason.

Owen proposal would help married women get credit

Married women may find it easier to obtain credit for certain purchases under a bill introduced in the Michigan House by State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-22nd District).

Currently, married women in Michigan legally can refuse to pay for certain necessities because the law states only her husband can be made to pay for items such as food, clothing and shelter.

"This results in a situation in which women often cannot receive credit for these items in her own name," Owen said. "Because they know women legally can refuse payment later on, merchants often will not extend credit."

Owen added that his bill would give women the right to make themselves jointly liable with their husbands in contracting for a good or service, including clothing or shelter.

"The problem arises most frequently with married women who are turned down for credit because their husbands are financially irresponsible," Owen said. "This happens in spite of the fact that the wife may be responsible, because merchants justifiably are unwilling to rely on men who have a poor financial track record."

"This bill would protect creditors by making married women jointly liable with their husbands. It also would provide married women with the ability to obtain credit and purchase necessities with which they may otherwise have to go without."

Owen said current Michigan law thwarts recent federal legislation designed to eliminate discrimination in the extension of credit because of sex or marital status.

"I feel that a creditor should have every right to expect a married woman to pay for a purchase which she has contracted for," he added. "I also believe that married women should be given this right and not treated as if they were incapable of handling financial decisions responsibly."

"In many families, it's the women who handles the money and makes financial decisions. It's high time the law reflected what always has been an equal ability on the part of women."

Student quilting: Learning

Fourth and fifth grade students at Hayti Elementary School in Romulus are learning about their country's history not only by reading and studying, but by doing.

Under the supervision of teacher Sharon Wagner, the youngsters have designed and are constructing a Bicentennial quilt.

Each quilt square was designed and quilted by hand by one student and tells something different about the United States.

Through the study of the quilt the students have learned about America's past and the way the early settlers lived, Miss Wagner said.

Taking part in the construction of the quilt were fourth graders Jennifer Anderson, Kimberly Carnes, Rudy Ellis, Karen Frey, Joseph George, Catherine Juliano, Stephen McDonald, Cheryl McDowell, Tom Noeyack, Gregory Nolf, Ernest Randolph, Harold Rice and Joel Williams.

The fifth grade students involved in the project are Dawn Berryhill, Annette Dudek, Amy Fall, Allen Kawzinski, Deanne Kennett, Brian Kosmalski, Lori McDonald, Mark Monroe, Lori Richardson and Sherry Scott.

The adults helping out are Dorene Swindle, Ginny Smith and Miss Wagner.

EMU forensics team collects 2nd national championship

The 25-member Eastern Michigan University (EMU) forensics team has won a national championship after travelling 2,500 miles in two motor homes to compete in the National Individual Speaking Events Championship in Los Angeles, Calif.

And among those students making the trek was Donna Lochrie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Silvenis of Bemis Road, Belleville.

The coed competed in the 3-day tournament and was a finalist in the Rhetorical Criticism event. A junior majoring in mathematics, she lives in Ypsilanti with her husband, Christopher.

According to Forensics Coach Dennis Beagen, the EMU orators got some strange stares when they pulled into California State University at Los Angeles April 21 after four days on the road. Most of the 126 schools competing in the tournament flew, making EMU the only school to drive the trip.

The college which won the same national championship two years ago, is the first school in Michigan, to win the event. In last year's tournament, EMU finished second place, only half point behind first-place Ohio University.

In this year's championship tournament, the EMU forensics team took a total of 294 sweepstakes points to beat second-place Ohio by almost 50 points. After driving eight days to compete against 632 other students in the tournament, EMU placed 33 in the quarter-finals and had 18 in the semi-finals. Six made the final rounds.

Unlike the team-oriented debate competition, forensics involved competing in individual speaking events as extemporaneous, impromptu, humorous and persuasive speaking.

The championship tournament, sponsored by the National Forensics Association, was held April 22-25.

Genius kit judging marks Scout meet

Den 1 of the Cub Scout Pack 793 of St. Anthony's Catholic Church provided the entertainment as parents and scouts gathered recently for the group's monthly pack meeting.

The den, under the direction of Den Mother Priscilla Wilsey, offered a skit during the meeting.

The highlight of the evening, however, was the judging of the genius kits, which were given to the den with the stipulation that each scout receive some of the useable junk it contains.

Prizes for the kits went to Norman Farrell for best overall, James Budd for most original and Mike Bolinsky for most items used.

In the Webelo Den, each Scout designed and built his own bird house, with the prizes going to Eric Larcinese, first; Jimmy Monforton, second; Grant Memering, third, and Peter Davis, fourth.

Receiving awards during the meeting were Tony Szaraz, John Ausc, Jeff Memering, Mike Fleeman and Derrick Dowling, who netted their Wolf badges.

Jeff Mensing also collected a gold arrow, while Norman Farrell gained a gold arrow. James Budd had a gold arrow and Tony Szaraz received gold and silver arrows.

Webelos awards went to Jimmy Monforton, engineer badge; and Eric Larcinese, engineer and geologist.

The Webelo leader, Bob Monforton, also welcomed Tony Szaraz into the den.

The next event for the pack is a car wash to be held Saturday at Ed's X-Way Marathon, located at the corner of Belleville Road and the I-94 freeway.

At a previous Scout meeting, several members received awards for their accomplishments in Scouting.

Receiving awards from Cubmaster Dick Wilsey were Norman Ferrell, bear badge and silver arrow, David Wood, silver arrow, Andy Winnie, denner cord and Michael Fleeman, assistant denner cord.

Webelos Scout Jimmy Monforton was presented with his artist and athlete activity badges by his father, Webelos leader Bob Monforton.

One new member, Donald Granlick Jr., and his father were welcomed to the pack at the regular meeting.

Scouts will be competing in a contest next month with their "genius kits"—bags of odds and ends. The scouts and their mothers are being encouraged to design something out of the contents of the kits.

Following the award presentations, the parents of the pack participated in their version of the traditional Pinewood Derby competition.

Margaret Bergeson won honors for having the best-looking car, but she finished second to husband Alton in the racing competition.

House bill would save CETA jobs

Legislation to preserve some 273,000 public service jobs until at least next September has been approved by the House of Representatives.

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Mich.), a strong supporter of the bill, said it authorizes $200,000,000 to extend the Emergency Jobs Programs, created by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

"This legislation will enable our local county, municipal and school officials to continue their present CETA programs while Congress completes its work on the major CETA bill and extends it through fiscal 1977," Ford added.

In a statement on the House Floor urging his colleagues to approve the bill, Congressman Ford pointed out that funding authority already had expired, and that an estimated 12,000 persons already had lost their jobs.

"If this bill does not become law promptly, approximately 100,000 more jobs will be wiped out within the next few months," he added.

Congressman Ford also outlined for his colleagues a successful fight in the Education and Labor Committee, on which he serves, to block the Administration's efforts to undercut the CETA program.

Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees switch leaders

The Belleville-Van Buren Township Jaycees have a new slate of leaders.

Wayne Champagne, a graduate of Belleville High School and a 29-year resident of the Belleville-Van Buren community, has been elected president of the young men's community improvement association.

Champagne and his wife, Mary, live on Elwell Road in Van Buren, and are the parents of three children — two boys and a girl.

Elected vice-president of the organization was LeRoy Carver, serving his second consecutive term in the post. Vice-President Bill Walters likewise retained his post another year.

Jerry Willmon retained the post as treasurer-chaplain.

Newly elected to the post of secretary was Dave Morningstar, a first-year Jaycee who works at Amerman Lumber Co.

The five new directors of the organization are Joe Horset, Ron Stark, Dave Greca, John Brooks and Mike Zaborowski.

Past President Paul Domen will serve as chairman of the board.

The Jaycees have welcomed several new members including C. Greca, R. Chudzinski, G. Smith and Mike Grubbe.

Once again this year, the Jaycees will sponsor a fireworks display on Belleville Lake July 4.

As part of a fund-raising campaign, the organization is raffling citizen's band equipment, including a 69-channel base station as first prize, a $100 citizen's band gift certificate as second prize and a $50 citizen's band gift certificate as third prize.

Tickets are available from any Jaycee or from Kromi's Citizen's Band Equipment at 23800 Clark Road, Belleville.

The monthly meetings of the Jaycees have been changed to the first and third Wednesday of the month.

All men between the ages of 18 and 35 are eligible for membership in the organization and are welcome to attend one of the monthly meetings to discuss signing up.

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus has made accommodations for a region airport, which occupies one-tenth (one-tenth) of the community land area; and

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus is physically dissected by a north-south-east-west freeway and a north-south-east-west railway system whose accumulative net result is to destroy the residential amenities which would have otherwise been available to the citizens of Romulus; and

WHEREAS: The Jondahl Proposal, if adopted, would remove status of offenses from the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court and place jurisdiction for the disciplinary action under the Department of Social Services; and

WHEREAS: the Department of Social Services is presently understaffed and overworked, it is inconceivable to assume that the quality and or quantity of attention juveniles committing status offenses require could be rendered; and

WHEREAS: The Juvenile Court System is designed and long-experienced in the prudent administration of discipline where same is required and the Department of Social Services would be assuming an entirely new role without the benefit of like experience; and it would appear to the City of Romulus that such a move would only contribute an additional blow to our crippled social structure and more significantly, the family structure; and

4 track records fall

Glenn retains Belleville Relays title

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Four records fell as Westland John Glenn successfully defended its Belleville Relays' title against a strong field of 12 area teams last week.

TED UNOLD
Top 2-Miler

The 17th running of the annual spring classic, delayed 24 hours because of inclement weather, was settled by Glenn's outstanding mile relay team which gave the Westlanders the six big points that preserved their team victory.

Glenn garnered 31 points and captured two of the 12 events as the Northwest Suburban Conference champs held off strong challenges from second place Livonia Churchill (28), Livonia Franklin (25), Belleville and Cherry Hill, each with 24 points.

"It was an extremely close meet," said Glenn coach Barry Basel, "and we're very happy to win it."

Basel noted that the relays, staged during strong winds, "were the best in recent years."

"Any one of the top six teams could have won it," Basel added. "That's why I'm happy to see we took it."

Basel added that the winds caused problems earlier in the meet but not after nightfall.

Sports

posted a 3:24.49 victory, beating Franklin's foursome to the wire. Franklin was clocked in 3:26.68.

The Westland mile relay team's effort is one of the best - if not the best - time in the state.

Glenn's Ted Unold shattered the 2-mile run record as he turned in a 9:37.36 for his victory. That time also is a Glenn school record.

Glenn's high jump relay team wound up in a tie for first with Cherry Hill but the gold medals were awarded to Cherry Hill's trio of Herm Thompson, Brian Coughenour and Scott Smith because of lesser misses. Both teams amassed 18 feet, 2 inches, a Belleville Relays' high jump record.

Cherry Hill also won three other events: the Spartans' long jump relay team of Dave Bisesi, Paul Centkowski and Bill Coughenour won with a 60 feet, 5 inches total, nipping host Belleville by three inches.

Coach Joe Grasley's 4-mile relay team of Scott Smith, Mark

Brayman, Jerry Markley and Dale Brown eclipsed the old record in winning in 18:23.6, while the 2-mile relay team of Mike Smith, Mark Hagedorn, Jim Myers and Bill Johnson earned gold medals thank to an 8:08.12 finish.

Grasley stressed the "keenness of the competition," and added: "Most of our relay teams performed the best they have all year."

Franklin strolled off with two events, claiming the shot put relay on the performances of John Adam, Tom Rae, and Mike Kaseta who compiled 137 feet, 7 inches. The Patriots also won the 440-yard relay with Dave Smith, Jim Casey, Larry Acton and Jim Bodt who were clocked in 43.95.

Dearborn Heights Robichaud was represented in the winner's circle with its 880-yard relay team of Johnny Allen, Terry Ross, Everett Charleston and Victor Huguley. The quartet churned out a 1:29.64.

In the low hurdle shuttle, Robichaud's Charleston, Ross, Andrew Singleton and Huguley held off an up-and-coming Romulus foursome to win in 57.96. Romulus was clocked in 58.91.

Churchill took the pole vault competition with Russell Good, Craig Marzion and Dan Stowers who teamed up for a 35 feet win.

Belleville took the other only evenn, the high hurdle shuttle with Al Russell, Fred Jordan, Mike Blazer and Dickerson who won in 1:02.92.

"The competition in this meet is getting better each year," said Harry Hidenfelter, Belleville High athletic director and host of the meet. "Despite the weather, I felt the athletes performed very well - and the results show it."

Rockets remain on title course

John Glenn has never won the Northwest Suburban Athletic Conference tennis championship.

But this appears to be the year that Coach Don Aldrich and his Rockets end the drought.

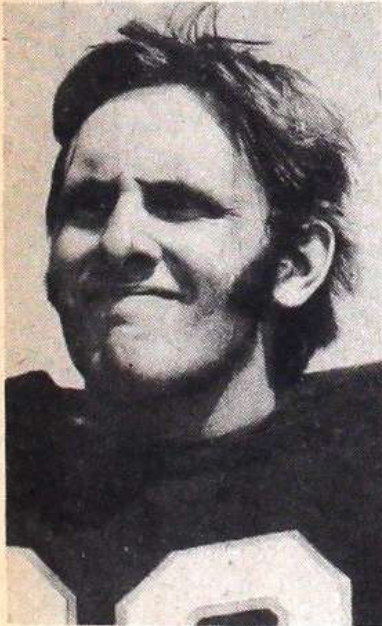

Unbeaten in 11 outings this season, the Westlanders have a perfect 5-0

Westlander lifts WSU to 3-0 win

Wayne State University wound up four weeks of spring football drills with a 3-0 victory for the Gold over the Green in the Annual Spring Game in WSU Stadium.

The Gold won the game on senior-to-be Bill Kelley's (of Westland John Glenn fame) 23-yard first quarter field goal. It was set up by a fumble recovery at the 5-yard line by sophomore Mike Bramos.

"We're real pleased with our spring showing," said head coach Dick Lowry. "We have some things to work on, but you always do and that's probably the way it should be. "We ended up with a strong defense, our best, I feel, in three years."

conference record after crushing Garden City East 7-0 and whipping Livonia Franklin 6-1 last week.

"Our boys have been getting the job done," said Aldrich whose team winds down the league campaign Monday at home to Franklin. "But, there's always the league meet - and anything can happen then."

After sweeping all seven points from East, Glenn gave up a single point to Franklin - in the third doubles where Dean Morier and Bob Deyo went three sets before they stopped Westlanders Larry McClure and Ron Ruark.

Name Michigan's best walleye lake. If you didn't say Burt Lake you were wrong because most years more than ten percent of all the walleyes caught in this state come from that body of water near the northern end of the Lower Peninsula.

Burt Lake sprawls over 17,000 acres, which would seem to be plenty of boatroom for everybody interested in fishing for this goggle-eyed scrapper. Actually, though, the big lake is being over-fished for walleyes, say fisheries biologists, and not just by local people.

Ironically, many anglers drive many miles to get in on good walleye fishing when they could save themselves a lot of time and expense by getting better acquainted with lakes virtually in their own home back yards! Let's take a look at some of the possibilities since Michigan has good walleye waters in nearly every area.

You want big lakes? Well, how about 20,000-acre Houghton Lake or maybe Lakes Mitchell and Cadillac in Wexford County, with more than 3,700 acres between them. That's a trio tough to beat anytime. Toss in nearby Hadenpyle Backwaters near Mesick as more too walleye water.

Benzie County has Upper Herring Lake, while Bear, Portage and Manistee lakes in Maines County can provide excellent walleye action. Fife Lake, at the Grand Traverse-Kalkaska County line, has come in for special attention for years by members of the Walton Junction Sportsman Club who have reared and released many thousands of walleyes into that lake. It has really paid off for them and their visitors, too.

Looking on the east side of the state there is Cook Dam and the area below it in Iosco County, west of Oscoda. Excellent walleye runs occur there and anglers in the know that full advantage of them. In Presque Isle County there are Grand and Long lakes, while another Long Lake in Alpena County is also fine walleye water. And while in that area, don't overlook East Twin Lake in Montmorency County.

Nor do folks in southeastern Michigan's metropolitan areas have far to go for walleye fishing. Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers are all noted for the fine angling they provide for "big eyes." Kent Lake in Oakland County and Livingston County's Huron River Chain all provide walleye fishing of a brand to satisfy any angler.

It is in the Upper Peninsula, though, that walleye fishermen hardly know which way to turn. There are so many good lakes it is really difficult to choose.

For starters, look at Mackinac County with its Les Cheneaux area of Lake Huron and, at the other end of the county near Curtis, try the Manistique Lakes. Chippewa County has the famous Munuscony Bay area as well as Potagannising Bay and nearby Schoolcraft County has its Indian Lake and Indian River for walleyes.

As you head west there are Lake Michigan, Teal Lake, the Ontonagon River, Lake Gogebic, Lac Vieux Desert.

Starting young on mats

Getting an early start in their wrestling careers, this group of Wayne-Westland wrestlers helped the Wolverine Westling Club become one of the top AAU Age Group teams in the state this season. Wearing medals they earned during the 1976 season are (first row, from left) Eddie Souweidane, Steve Cuomo, John Novick, Gary Owens, Dean Garza and Rob Paciocco; second row are

Spartans bow to Schafer

Cherry Hill rallied for seven runs in the final two innings but they weren't enough as Coach Ken Mientkiewicz' Spartans succumbed to Southgate Schafer 9-7 in a Tri-River Conference baseball game.

The loss dipped Cherry Hill's conference record to 2-3 on the season. The league teams are trying to catch undefeated and defending champ, Taylor Kennedy.

"We just couldn't get on the board the first five innings," Mientkiewicz said, "then things started to fall into place. Unfortunately, we just didn't have enough to beat them."

Righthander Jim Harrison went the distance, struck out four and walked an equal number in taking the loss. His personal record is 2-2 on the year.

Schafer's Gary LaPorte gave up seven hits, one a solo blast to Mark Lipinski who put the ball in orbit over the center field fence for his and the team's first home run of the campaign.

LaPorte also notched 11 strikeouts and issued seven walks.

Cherry Hill broke its five inning scoring drought in the bottom of the sixth when Harrison walked, moved to second on Bryan Funke's groundout. Mark Barrons' grounder was muffed by the shortstop, bringing up Tim Rollins who walked to load the bases.

Mike Nyenhuis then sliced a two-run single and was followed by Rich Rimmel's run-scoring single.

In the bottom of the seventh, Lipinski led off with his home run. After Harrison fanned, Funke and Barrons kept the Spartans' hopes alive with singles. Rollins walked, loading the bases, then Nyenhuis walked, forcing in a run.

Rimmel came through with a two-run single, but a couple of flyouts ended the threat.

District 'B' pairings set

There'll be three qualifying games for high school teams that will be playing for the Class B District Baseball Championship held at Willow Run.

In one of those 'pre-pre district' games, Cherry Hill will make its Class B baseball debut against Dearborn Heights Robichaud. That game is set for May 29th at Robichaud.

In other games, New Boston Huron clashes with Clarenceville while Inkster takes on Ypsilanti Lincoln.

Other pre-district games include: Willow Run vs. the winner of the New Boston and Clarenceville game while Lutheran West meets the survivor of the Inkster-Lincoln duel.

Pre-tourney favorite Dearborn Divine Child must get past Dearborn Heights Robichaud in order to qualify for the June 5th district playoff.

The district playoffs, hosted by Willow Run, are scheduled for June 5. The first game is set for 10 a.m. and the second will be played at 1 p.m. The two winners will return to play for the title at 4 p.m.

$$$ needed for Romulus Legion team

If Romulus High Coach Dennis Stoh can come up with enough dollars, Romulus may have an American Legion baseball team.

"We need a sponsor," Stoh said. "We have been given the O.K. to field a team in the 16th District, however, we need some money to pay for the registration fee and for the baseballs."

Stoh figures if he can raise about $500, then Romulus will have its American Legion team.

"We're doing this for the kids and our baseball program," the Romulus coach said. "The kids want to play. It'll keep them busy during the summer and it will also help us maintain a continuous baseball program."

If there are any groups that wish to contribute or sponsor the team, please contact Coach Stoh at the Romulus Senior High (Whi-2170) or after 6 p.m. at his home (946-8282).

Clearing all obstacles to victory

Leading the field in his wake, Wayne Memorial's senior hurdler Brett Hansen captured the gold medal for the high hurdles with a 14.8 finish at the second annual Wayne Memorial Invitational held Saturday. It was one of three events won by the hosts who finished fourth in a field of 18 teams. Westland John Glenn captured the title for the second consecutive year.

Winless Glenn '9' gives unbeaten GC East scare

It took unbeaten Garden City East nine innings, but Coach Billy Joe Young's Panthers managed to avert a disaster by winning a 6-5 Northwest Suburban Conference baseball game over Westland John Glenn.

A ninth inning single, "suicide squeeze" and a wild pitch played determining roles in Glenn's downfall as the Westlanders the defending champs sweat for the victory.

An East loss would have scrambled the title race as Franklin is one step down on the Panthers. Franklin edged Thurston 3-2 to remain in the title race.

"We're just not getting the key hits," said Glenn's Norm Hoenes. "Three singles at the right time would have given us a 3-2 instead of a 0-5 league record."

"What can one say?" he rhetorically asked. Craig Duncan was charged with the loss as he was tagged for 10 hits, struck out three, walked one and also hit on batsman.

Jim Hudson, in relief of Craig Emery, was credited with the victory. Emery worked 6 one-third innings before Coach Young called upon Hudson to stop the surging Rockets.

Glenn rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh to tie the game at 5-all. In that inning, Brett McClelland delivered the key blow - belting a two-run single with Craig Walker and Mark Grabowski aboard. Both Glenn baserunners also singled.

East built up a 4-0 lead with a single run in the third and three in the fourth before the Westlanders scored three times in the fifth inning.

In that frame, Kevin Sanders started the rally with a single to left. He moved to second when Walker also singled, then Mike Bednarski drilled a single, scoring Glenn's first run of the ball game. Grabowski was safe on an error, scoring Walker and John Stafford's single brought home Bednarski for the third run.

McClelland had a perfect two for two day while Bednarski and Stafford each had two hits in three trips to the plate. Walker picked up two hits in four appearances.

Hoenes and his Rockets will be busy this week. They met North Farmington Monday then, in the evening, took on Wayne Memorial under the lights at Anderson Field. It was the first night game ever for the Wayne-Westland schools.

Glenn also had Franklin scheduled for Wednesday, weather permitting.

"The East game, I feel, was a morale booster," Hoenes noted. "It showed we can play with the best team in the league. We just have to come up with the hits at the right time."

Cyclists fare well

Local and area drivers fared well at the E-Z Rider Raceway motorcycle races last week.

Wayne's Steve Foster drove off with a first place trophy in his division, the 201-360 A (Pro), beating Farmington's Mark Trucker. In third place in that division was Mitch Sugg while Thomas Towler wound up fourth.

Here are last week's results according to divisions.

Franklin to challenge champ's title rights

Rained out for their scheduled meeting last week, Livonia Franklin and Garden City East have rescheduled their Northwest Suburban Conference baseball showdown for Friday.

The two conference frontrunners will meet at East for a doubleheader which could determine the next Northwest Suburban champ.

East took a 4-0 record into this week's action while Franklin is 3-1.

"East has shown that it is the team to beat in the league," said Franklin's Ron Hellier. "However, I'm very pleased with the over-all team performance I'm getting from our kids, and we'll be ready."

Franklin edged Thurston 3-2 earlier last week and swept both ends of a doubleheader from nonleague rival Ypsilanti 9-3 and 8-2 to stretch its winning streak to eight games. (The school record is 12 in a row, set by the 1972 league-winning team.)

Mark Wilkins checked Thurston on a five-hitter as he evened up his personal record to 1-1 on the year. The junior right-hander who has four saves to his credit picked up nine strikeouts and walked four.

Franklin took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Nelson Yanick doubled, moved to third on a single by Ken Scarpace and scored on a single by Tim Hollandsworth.

But Thurston came back with two runs in the third to go ahead 2-1.

The Livonians tied it up in the fifth when Bill Longeway got to losing pitcher Randy Rodriguez for a triple and raced home when Yanick belted a sacrifice fly.

The Patriots settled the issue in the bottom of the sixth as Tresik and Darrel Gunter singled, with Tresik stopping at third. The two then pulled off a double steal. Steve siding in at home for the decisive run.

Franklin staked Al Castrodale to five runs in the first inning of the first game against Ypsilanti and that proved enough as the junior hurler fanned five, walked none and gave up three hits in four innings on the mound.

Calvin Beer took over in relieve and was tagged for two of the three runs and four hits.

In that opening inning, Yanick walked and moved down to second when Gary Pollard's grounder was bobbled. Hollandsworth was also safe on an error, allowing one run to score. Tresik walked and a sacrifice bunt by Gunter produced two runs. Longeway also drew a base on balls, then Castrodale sliced a two run single.

Franklin added four more runs in the fourth thanks to singles by Ken Scarpace and Jerry Pollard, a two-run double by Hollandsworth and a single by Tresik. Tresik scored when Gunter stroked a two-bagger. Hollandsworth, batting .528 going into the week, had a pair of doubles and three RBI's while Scarpace finished the day with two hits.

In the nightcap Mike Flood and Dennis Smith jolted the Braves 8-2 with Flood getting credit for the victory. The two Franklin pitchers split six hits between them and each was charged with one run.

Franklin titled the scoreboard in its favor for two runs in the second and sixth innings, scored three times in the fifth and once in the third.

Dan Pederson's double with Hollandsworth and Tresik aboard produced Franklin's two sixth inning runs while singles by Hollandsworth, Mike Rotter, a walk to Paul Pietrzak and singles to Dennis Smith and Yanick figured in Franklin's three-run fifth.

Tresik tripled home Scarpace in the third and, in the first inning, an error put Scarpace on and he moved down to second when Tresik walked. A double steal led to a throwing error and one run and a mishandled grounder allowed Tresik to score for the second run.

Dolphins hold swim tryouts

The Wayne Recreation Dolphin Swim Club will hold open tryouts between 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, in the Wayne High pool. The tryouts are geared to those swimmers between the ages of 7 and 18 years old who wait to join the Dolphin program, but are not sure they are ready for competitive swimming.

Coach Jim McPartlin and several of his aides will evaluate each applicant and recommend whether he or she is ready begin club participation this summer - either at regular team workouts or an afternoon instructional session and whether the swimmer needs even more instruction in basic swimming strokes.

To try out for the summer session, swimmers need only be at Wayne High School's pool Tuesday between 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. with bathing suit and towel. Each will be evaluated by the coaching staff and given recommendations as to ability, needed training and method of obtaining team status or further instruction.

Those present or past Dolphin members and any swimmer who completed a full season with a junior high swim team need not tryout to be eligible for the summer program.

The Dolphins are a swim team that competes under Amateur Athletic Union sanctions against other clubs in dual, league, and invitational-meet conditions. Youngsters swim against those of their own age and ability.

McPartlin, Wayne High School swim coach, heads the summer Dolphin season—which officially opens June 21. In addition to three age and ability groups who will swim daily at Attwood Pool, the program also includes a competitive-swim instructional session daily at Wayne High.

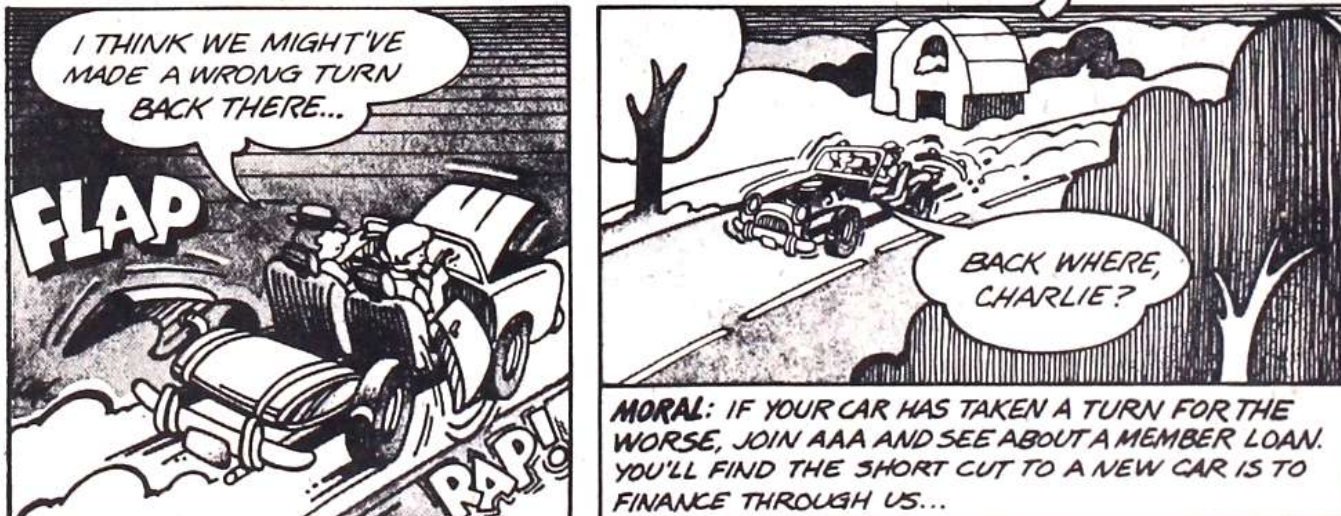

McPartlin, Dirk Johnston and Dave Santure will coach the more experienced Dolphin swimmers at Attwood Pool, while McPartlin will be joined by Jack Dankert in overseeing the instructional session at Wayne High.

Among a busy season planned this summer are such events as participation in a summer league, several invitational meets, the annual Swim-A-Thon and the Wayne Recreation Dolphin Junior Olympics. The club will also host an invitational July 23 at Attwood Pool.

The Dolphin program—which also runs sessions from fall into winter and spring—is a coordinated effort between parent boosters, the Wayne Department of Parks and Recreation, and the Continuing Education Department of the Wayne-Westland School District.

Summer activities are sponsored almost entirely by the recreation department—which provides pool time and financial assistance, while the continuing education department includes AAU swimming as a part of its year-round program.

St. Richard's sports fete

It was time to award the top athletes in St. Richard's basketball and football programs and one of the trophy recipients is Kelly Conboy (second from left) who is presented the girls' basketball league championship award. On hand for the presentation are Thomas Loughlin (from left) master of ceremonies, Larry Maiers, President of the St. Richard's Athletic Association, and Westland Judge Michael W. Bradley, guest speaker. More than 180 awards were presented to the young athletes who competed in the parish's winter sports program.

Churchill grabs Western '6' lead

Whether Livonia Churchill baseball coach Rog Frayer can surprise his colleagues in the Western Six Conference and walk off with the championship this season may depend largely on the outcome of the Chargers' games this week. "This is the week that makes or breaks us," said Frayer after his team posted a 4-3 victory over Waterford Mott to take over sole possession of first place. "We have Northville and Harrison to worry about and, if we can come up with a couple of wins it will enhance our title chances."

Churchill was sporting a 2-0 record going into this week's action. They're one game up on Plymouth Canton and Northville which are 2-1. Against Mott, winning pitcher Bill Bardwell held off a late Waterford surge to post his second league win of the season. He was tagged for seven hits, struck out eight and walked two.

Losing pitcher Roy Atherton gave up eight hits which led to two runs in the first and single runs in the third and sixth frames. Atherton also notched three whiffs and issued two bases on balls.

In the sixth, Churchill scored what proved to be the decisive run on a single by Dennis Slater who was removed for pinch-runner Ray Raymond. Raymond stole second and, with two-away, scored when Mike Devlin singled him home.

Singles by Ron Griffin and Slater set up Churchill's third inning run. A double steal and a balk by Atherton scored Griffin, while in the first inning the Chargers took the lead as Bill Coyle was safe on an error, moved to third when Dave Colley singled.

Griffin's groundout produced one run and, with two away, Slater drilled a run-scoring double.

Earlier, Bardwell frustrated Walled Lake Western with a four-hitter. He fanned four, walked none and hit one batsman en route to an easy 10-1 victory.

Coyle had an excellent day at the plate as he connected for three hits - a pair of doubles and a single. He also scored three times. Colley finished the day with three for four and batted in three runs. Bardwell helped his own cause with a leadoff home run in the fifth and a single in a two out-of-three day.

North-South Shrine grid game is set

The Detroit area's and Michigan's first ever college all-star game—the North-South Shrine Game—has been granted certification by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

A previously announced Dec. 27 date was changed to maximize the game's potential for attracting the most outstanding of the nation's college team seniors.

Romulus beats Parkside, 5-2

Despite having problems, there are some bright spots in Romulus High's baseball season.

Like the 5-2 victory over Jackson Parkside in the opener of a doubleheader last Saturday.

"It was our best game of the season," said Dennis Stoh, Romulus' sophomore baseball coach. "We got the pitching, the hitting to go along with our defense."

Mike Marsiglia provided the pitching as he added his personal record to 3-2 on the year. He completed his fifth game of the season, throwing a six-hitter. The sophomore righthander notched eight strikeouts and walked one.

Romulus got on the scoreboard in the first inning as Dave Johnson was safe on an error, moved to second with Michael Morrison's sacrifice and scored when Mickey Ruffolo singled.

However, Parkside rallied for two runs in the second to take the lead which eventually dissipated when the Eagles tallied once in the third on a single by Morrison, a stolen base, and Ruffolo's grounder that was misplayed.

Romulus broke the deadlock in the fifth with two runs thanks to a walk to Marsiglia, a double by Jeff Frazee and Johnson's RBI double. In the sixth they got themselves an insurance run on singles by Bill and Chuck McBride and a base hit by Eric Moore.

Pat Foust's six-hitter jolted Romulus 8-0 in the nightcap. Foust fanned three and walked none.

Ruffolo, who went six innings, was charged with the loss. He gave way to Morrison who was tagged for five straight hits that led to four Parkside runs in the seventh.

Eleven errors led to disaster and a double loss by Romulus to Great Lakes 8 Conference leader, Lincoln Park, earlier last week. Lincoln Park won the first game 5-2, then swept the series 4-2.

Morrison went the distance in the opener, losing a heartbreaking two-hitter. Hestruick out four and walked three while winning pitcher Dale Morry scattered six hits.

Lincoln Park scored three times in the first inning and for all purposes that was enough to win it.

Romulus put two runs on the board in the second inning when Kelly singled, trotted to second when Morry walked Frazee, then Moore was safe on an error, leading the bases for John Stenman who slashed a two-run single.

Johnson accounted for two - both singles - of Romulus' six hits.

In the nightcap Ruffolo lost a four-hitter as the senior righthander struck out and walked two. His teammates blew a 2-0 second inning lead as Lincoln Park came up with four runs in the fourth.

Ruffolo's single drove home Chuck McBride for the Eagles' first inning run and walks to McBride, Frazee and Mark Kelly's fielder's choice led to their second inning tally.

"I felt we outplayed Lincoln Park in both games, but it's very difficult to play over 11 error," Stoh noted.

Marsiglia evened up his record at 2-2 at the expense of Detroit DePorres 5-3. Marsiglia checked the Detroiters with a five-hitter, striking out three and walking two en route to the victory.

Romulus exploded for five runs in the sixth to erase a 2-0 deficit. In that inning Bill McBride and Kelly each singled and Marsiglia then delivered a two run single. Frazee singled home Marsiglia then proceeded to steal second. Moore got aboard on an error, scoring Frazee while Johnson drilled a single, allowing Moore, who had stole second, to score with the fifth and final run of the game.

Johnson wound up with three for four - all singles.

Romulus carries a 3-8 over-all record into this week's action.

Wayne crushes Riverview to remain in title race

Unleashing 20 hits, Wayne Memorial buried Riverview 21-3 to remain in contention for the Great Lakes 8 Conference baseball championship.

It was the worst beating a Wayne baseball contingent had ever handed the downriver team.

The victory also boosted Coach Jim Chronowski's Zebras' record to 3-2 on the league year and 7-6 overall.

Wayne is chasing Monroe, Lincoln Park and Taylor Truman, each with 4-1 records, in the standings.

"We're still in the thick of this race," said Chronowski who has a busy week. Wayne was to face Fordson on Monday, barring rain, had a makeup with Truman on Wednesday, then clashes with Monroe on Thursday and plays a double-header with Thurston on Saturday.

Pat Bledsoe, an all-conference and All-Area pitcher last week, finally broke into the winning column as he tossed a nine-hitter against Riverview. He struck out seven and walked three.

The rugged Wayne senior also scored four times, getting aboard on a single and three walks. The victory also cut Bledsoe's three-game losing streak.

Wayne received two hits from Rick Pittman who accounted for three RBI's while Al Rogers picked up two for three, a double and single.

The only other Wayne player with two hits, Pat Sheridan, belted a double and single and counted one RBI.

Mike Melcher continues to lead Wayne's battery as the third baseman-catcher is batting at a .400 clip this season. Teammate Bill Crews is atop of the RBI department with 15 and has a .308 batting average.

Southpaw Don Johnson has piled up a 4-0 pitching record and is 2-0 in the league. His ERA is .84.

Wayne edges Taylor

Getting what Coach Jack Armstrong labelled a "team effort," Wayne Memorial edged Taylor Truman 4-3 in a Great Lakes 8 Conference tennis match.

But, if Armstrong's Zebras want to catch league-leading Monroe, they'll have to find some way to stop Fordson, the defending champ. (The two teams were to meet Monday, weather permitting.)

The victory over Taylor provided Wayne with its fourth league win in five starts. Over-all, Wayne is 5-1 on the year.

Glenn repeats as Wayne Invitational champ

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The anticipated showdown between defending champ Westland John Glenn and undefeated Ypsilanti at the second annual Wayne Memorial Invitational Track Relays didn't materialize on Saturday as the Westlanders won the title with little difficulty.

Glenn garnered 73½ points to outdistance a field of 17 others in the second running of the meet. Ypsilanti slipped to third place with 55 points while Adrian was runnerup with 66. Host Wayne piled up 50 points, good enough for fourth place. Belleville (41½), Livonia Franklin (38), Fordson (27), Plymouth Salem (23) and Cherry Hill (20) were among the top 10 finishers.

Six new highs were set. One included a superb performance by Ypsilanti's Victor Freeman in the high jump.

Freeman cleared 6 feet, 11 ¾ inches to establish a Ypsilanti High, Wayne Memorial Relays' and an unofficial Class A state record. (In order for the Michigan High School Athletic Association to recognize a record as such, the performance must be set in a state meet).

At present, Reggis Ferguson of Flint Northwestern holds the state high jump record at 6 feet, 9 inches which was set in 1972.

Westland John Glenn's Ted Unold continued to build up his personal stock as one of the top 2-milers in the state as he led an impressive field to the wire with a 9:28.0 effort. That clocking was also a Wayne Relays' record.

Cherry Hill's 2-mile relay team of Dave Smith, Mark Hagedon, Jim Myers and Bill Johnson eclipsed that event's best time as the foursome won in an enviable 8:05.0.

The 4-mile and mile relay records also fell. In the latter, Wayne Memorial's Kevin Miller, John Lynch, Rich Blaha and Ron Mason combined for an 18:25.7 winning performance, while Ypsilanti's combination of the Jones brothers, William and Dogen ran a 3:23.9 to win the mile relay.

Milk's a Bargain All Ways

Homogenized Milk: Most popular of all fresh milk for drinking and cooking, it has no cream layer. Instead, the milk is twirled in a big blender to give it a rich creamy look and flavor. It's pasteurized the same as all but specialty milks and it's usually fortified with vitamin D. Buy it in a handy quart, or half-gallon waxed or plastic containers.

Skim Milk: Weight-watchers depend on it because a glassful has all the refreshing goodness of homogenized milk, but only about half the calorie count, for most of the butterfat has been removed. You will also find it labeled Skim Milk, with extra proteins, minerals, and vitamins added. Look for skim milk in quarts and half-gallon containers.

Buttermilk: Another favorite with weight-watchers, this cultured milk boasts a tart tangy flavor and a calorie count as low as fresh skim milk. Buy it in quart and half-gallon containers.

Cream: Across the country, cream has many labels: Heavy or whipping, all-purpose or medium, light, table, coffee, and part milk and cream called half-and-half. Each has a varying amount of butterfat to make heavy and medium rich enough to whip; the others light enough to use in cooking.
